THE TWO BILLS

TO PREVENT THE REDISETICTING

FOR CONGRESSIONAL PURPOSES.

McComa's Bill Discussed by Congress What a Prominent Lawyer Says in Regard to State and Federal Rights.

WASHINGTON, March 9 .- [Special.]-Democratic and republican members of congress alike are right now very much exercised as to the constitutionality of congress regulating the redistricting of states. For some time the Hoar and Wickham bills, to prevent the redistricting of Ohio at the present time, have been discussed largely by the democrats. However, Mr. McComas, of Maryland, has re cently introduced a very ingenious measure which the republicans seem determined to adopt. The bill is for the purpose of check-mating the moves of the democratic legisla-tures of Ohio and Maryland in redistricting those states, so as to increase the democratic representation from these states in congress. THE M'COMAS BILL.

The McComas bill provides that congress-men shall be elected by districts which shall have, as nearly as practicable, an equal number of inhabitants and the districts shall be composed of "territory that is contiguous, adjacent and compact." That after each census congress shall reapportion, and the legislature of each state elected next thereafter shall redistrict under these restrictions as to popula tion and territory, and when made shall not be altered until the next census. That until the next apportionment under the eleventh census there shall be no change of boundary, and representatives to the fifty-second congress shallbe elected from the same districts as those from which members of the fifty-first were elected, any law of any state heretofore hereafter to be passed to the contrary notwithstanding. Also that certifying boards of each state, authorized and required by the law of such state, to canvass and declare the result of the elections of members of congress, in addition to the facts now required by the statutes of the United States, to be set forth in the certificates, shall further certify that such representatives have been duly elected to represent the districts constituted by and composed of the territory in conformity with this act, and that such districts in respect to territory and state, enacted before or after the passage of this act, and such certificates only shall be received by the clerk of the next house in making up the roll.

In case of the failure or refusal of the state certifying board to sign and forward such certificate, the clerk in making up the roll of the next house, may receive in lieu thereof returns of local canvassing boards or officers of districts as sufficient certification of the representatives elected, and shall file such return in the office of the clerk of the house.

The bill is, indeed, very ingeniously worded, and if passed, the Ohio democrats would be paralyzed if they attempted to run congressional candidates in the new districts appor tioned in the redistricting bill, which recently passed the house of the Ot io legislature. The only hope of the democrats is that such a measure is unconstitutional. If the bill is based on firm constitutional grounds, then the democrats cannot depend on Ohio and Mary land to increase their numbers in the next

A LAWYER'S OPINION. Judge Chipman, of Michigan, one of the greatest constitutional lawyers on the democratic side of the house, said this evening in speaking of the McComas bill:

"It is based on the fourth section of the first article of the constitution, which confers on the states the power to prescribe 'times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives, 'but reserves to congress the power to make and alter such regulations except as to the places choosing senators.'
This does not in express terms designate who shall establish representative districts. The court of the United States has had this section under consideration and has decided that congress may make these regulations in whole or in part and prescrib punishments for infraction of the state as well as of the federal law regulating congressional elections. It has also decided that the power of congress is exclusive of every other when constitutionally exercised, and that all powers necessary to the exercise of an ex-pressed power are to be implied. In ex-parte Yarbrough, the court refers with approbation to two notable instances of the exercise by congress of the power to alter state regulations. First, that body prescribed that representatives should be elected in districts, as now, instead of in the state at large; second, in 1871 prescribed that representatives should be elected in all the stetes on the same day. Any one can see the tendency of these decis ions, and this action is to give congress perfect control of the actual conduct of the election.
All this leaves the broad question, 'Who shall establish the congressional districts?' There is no express constitutional provision on the subject, but it must be distinctly recognized that the existence of districts is the work of congress. This is the present status of the questions arising under the McComas bill. I will not leave the field of power and enter that of discretion, except to say that if con gress has the power to district the states, it will be wise not to exercise it."

GEORGIANS IN WASHINGTON. Quite a distinguished party of Georgian spent a portion of today here, on their return to Georgia. The party is traveling in a private car, and is composed of General E. P. Alexander, Captain E. P. Howell, Colonel Pat oun, Captain Harry Jackson and Major A. O. Bacon.

MISS CLARA'S APPEAL

For Money to Aid the Destitute in the Da

kotas. Washington, Darch 9.—Miss Clara Barton president of the American National associa tion of the Red Cross, has been investigating the statements concerning suffering and dest tution existing among the pioneer settlers of North and South Dakota, with the view of aiding those in need of help. She has ascer tained that there is urgent necessity for im medinte action, and now appeals to the public for cash subscriptions large enough to meet every emergency. She has information that there are at least five thousand people dependent, and many more who, though they have provisions for themselves, need food for their stock. H. S. Helgeson, state commissioner of agriculture, Grand Forks, North Dakota, will distribute all funds sent to his address.

Growing More Feeble.

WASHINGTON, March 9.-Ex-Congre Taulbee continues to grow more and more feeble and his hold on life more and more precarious. He is worse tonight than he was sterday, and death may come before morn ing. His recovery now would be almost

THIS WEEK IN CONGRESS. Work the Senate and House Have Before Them.

Washington, March 9 .- The uncertainty surrounding the dispositions of the questions raised by the recent consideration of executive session matters, makes it impossible to fore-cast, with any degree of accuracy, the work of the senate for this week. Senator Dolph's committee will tomorrow resume the investi-gation, under oath, of members of the senate respecting their connection with "leaks" in the past, and the report of their discoveries may precipitate another discussion similar to that of last week. So much of the time of the senate was taken up with that discussion, that the Blair educational bill was not disposed of, and it still heads the calendar as unfinished business. ness. A very general feeling exists in favor of closing the debate this week and of taking a vote on the bill, if possible. But that may not be secured until a week from tomorrow. Mr. Higgins, ef Delaware, is announced for a speech in favor of the bill on Monday, and Mr. Evarts will close the debate in support of the measure. and elections on the Montana case is likely to be made this week, but the debate that must ensue will not begin until the Blair bill is out of the way. The urgency deficiency appropriation bill will be reported from the committee on appropriations this week and its consideration urged at the earliest possible moment.

Senator Standford has announced his in tention to offer a resolution tomorrow instructing the finance committee to investigate and report upon the expediency and desirability of the government loaning money upon real estate mortgage at a nominal rate of interest-one or two per cent per annum, retaining the right to call in a certain proportion of loans when occasion demands.

In the morning hours the Oklahoma town site bill may be considered, and further progress made in execution of the order to dispose of public building and bridge bills on the calendar.

WHAT THE HOUSE WILL DO. The work of the house this week will proba bly be devoted principally to adding new stars to the national flag. The District of Columbia committee will occupy tomorrow in the disposi tion of measures relating to local affairs, and af-ter that the Oklahoma bill will be taken up and passed upon finally, as far as the house is con-cerned. Then, according to notice already given, the territories committee will present for the consideration of the house a bill to admit Wyoming as a state of the anion, and this will be followed by the Idaho bill. If any time remains the committee on elections desires to call up the contested election case of Mudd vs. Compton, from Maryland, but will only do so according to the present arrange-ment, if it can be done without interfering with the statehood bills already mentioned.

THE PROFESSORS ARE "OUT." And it Looks as if Claffin University Will

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 9 .- [Special.]-The trouble at Classin university caused by the caneing of the colored chaplain has assumed serious proportions. All the exercise of the institution have been suspended and the 800 colored students are said to be packing up their effects with the intention of leaving. Chaplin Cardoza, the professor who was beaten, and Professor Townsend, another colored professor, have resighned. This leaves but ony more colored member of the faculty, Professor Bulkley. These with President

Professor Bulkley. These with President Dunton are paid out of the Claffin fund with which the college was started. The white professors are paid out of the state fund.

Professor De Treville, the man who assaulted Cardoza, says he will hold on and will resume his classes as soon as the exercises of the college are resumed. The mayor of Orangeburg, the town in which the college is located, is reported as saying that he will call out the militia to protect Professor DeTreville if an attack is made on him. President Dunton has appealed to the governor, who has nt an attack is made on him. President Dun-ton has appealed to the governor, who has called a meeting of the board of trustees. This meeting has not yet been held. It looks at present as if the next biggest colored col-lege in the United Stress was about to melt away into thin air. The difficulty arose over the religious revival which Cardoza had been conducting in the college to over arose over the religious revival which Cardoza had been conducting in the college for over two weeks, and which De Treville, professor of mathemetics, said had interfered seriously with the work of the students. De Treville says that when he made this statement at a meeting of the faculty, Cardoza told him he didn't believe him.

Thurston, who were picked up in a dory. They went adrift February 27th, while attending trawls during a thick fog. The weather continued thick for five days. Their feet, hands and tongues also became swollen and they lay in the dory and prayed for death to relieve their sufferings. They had three saw fish in the dory which they tried to eat, but were made sick. They became delirious and had about made up their minds to jump over-board and end their sufferings when the Blanche rescued them.

The Actress is Mad. NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 9.—[Special.]—Charles Baily was taken to the county jail this afternoon on a writ of lunacy taken out by Holy & Southern, lessees of the Masonic theater. Mrs. Baily responded to an advertisement in the Clipper, and came here from St. Louis. On her arrival it was quickly seen that she was of unsound mind. She was taken to a boardinghouse, and friends telegraphed at St. Louis and Greensburg, Pa. A response being received she grew violent and was consequently jailed. DESPERATE COMBAT BETWEEN A MAD MAN AND A WOMAN.

SHE CLUTCHES HIM BY THE THROAT.

The Lunatic Fires Shot After Shot, But & Retains Her Grip Till Blood Gushes From His Nostrils, and Then She Escapes. CHICAGO, March 9 .- It was a fight for life

CHICAGO, March 9.—It was a fight for the The combatants were Mrs. Mary Peterson and a madman who gives the name of Albert Jenssen and says he is from Michigan. The affect occured in Mrs. Peterson's kitchen. Weary from her day's work Mrs. Peterson sat by the kitchen fire to await the arrival of her husband. The euening meal was on the table. She had waited, perhaps, half an hour when the front door opened. Supposing it to be her husband, she got up to greet him. Before she reached the hall door it was thrown violently open, and a strange man, with a wild, ferce glare in his eyes, confronted her. For a moment the two stood facing each other the worms alwest possible of the cash other the worms alwest possible of the cash other. her. For a moment the two stood factors each other, the woman almost paralyzed from fear and the madman gloating over his intended victim with glittering eyes. Then he drew a revolver and, leveling it at her head, fixed. fired. With a superhuman effort she sprace to one side, and then, with a bound like a tiger, clutched him by the throat. It was a fight for life, and even the madman, with his awful strength, could not loosen her grip.

A LIFE AND DEATH STRUGGLE. In vain did he strike her with his revolver. He tried to bring the muzzle in line with he head that he might blow her brains out, but she hugged him so closely that he could not, and the weapon was again discharged into the wall. She clinched her hands the tighter. His eyes began to start from their sockets. His face changed from red to a livid purple, and his tongue rolled out as he gasped for breath. The veins of his forehead swelled almost to bursting, but the woman held on. Her life depended on her grip. Back and forth in the room they struggled. Chairs were overturned and the table, set for supper, was upset. The madman had ceased to strike her and all his efforts were to break her gresp on his throat. He began to weaken.

SHE WINS HER LIFE. At last the blood spurted from his nostalls, and the sight os this was more the poor wo-man could stand. She relaxed her hold and fled from the house to the nearest neighbors and the police were called. As soon as was freed from Mrs. Peterson's grasp the mad man slunk to the attic of the house. In a short time the Hinman street patrol wagon arrived, and Officer Birmingham went up to the top of the house to fetch the maniac down. It was no easy matter. The fiend had partially recovered his strength from the frightful choking, and was at bay in a dark corner of the attic. Fortunately, in the struggle the fellow had dropped his revolver. As soon as the officer entered the dimly-lighted room the maniac mude a rush for him. Then came another fight, but the officer was fresh and the madman badly winded from the struggle he had had with Mrs. Peterson in the kitchen. As he closed in on the officer the maniac gave a hoarse yell that sounded more like a roar of a wild beast than like a human cry. The offficer finally threw the fellow and he was manacled and taken to the Hinman street poice station. Here he became more quiet Nothing could be learned from him, however, further than his name was Albert Jenssen and that he had escaped from a Michigan insane asylum. After closely examining him he was taken to the detention hospital.

PRONOUNCED INSANE.

John Green, Who Murdered His Sweetheart

Last Year. NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 9.—[Special.]— Dr. J. H. Callender, superintendent of the insane asylum, has made a critical examination of John Green, the Putnam county murderer, whose sentence to death was confirmed Thursday by the supreme court. The examination was made at the request of the county health officer, Dr. J. W. McAlister, and r sulted in Green being pronounced hopelessly in-sane and a fit subject for executive clemency. Green has been in the Davidson county iail for near a year, having been sent from Cookeville, Putnam county, where he murdered his sweetheart, Miss Ova Davis. keepers have always considered him a helpless idiot, and treated him as such. He neve talks to any one, and sits on the floor in the middle of his cell from morning until night. Sometimes he sits for hours without changing his position, mumbling to himself and ab sently twirling his fingers. One glance at his large, gray eyes, with their wild, vacant stare, would convince almost any one that there was something wrong with him.

Tracey & Russell, the boycotted ale brewers, and their Charleston agents. Boyd Bros. showed fight yesterday. On Sunday last, the Central Labor union sent out a squad of men and had arrested thirteen liquor dealers, whose saloons were open. Strange to say, however, only German grocers were arrested. Boyd Bros. are Irish and a good many Irish grocers and saloon keepers deal with them in the boycotted ale, but no Irish saloon keep ers were arrested. Last night ers were arrested. Last 'nig' the Merchants' Protective union, compose of upwards of three hundred liquor dealers had a meeting. They instructed their solic-itor to defend the grocers and liquor dealers who had been arrested on Sunday last, and they also decided to fight the devil with fire and to boycott all the members of the Central Labor union. They will not employ a knight of labor, and will not deal with any one who

But they did more than this. It was announced that Tracy & Russell had authorized their agents here to employ Mitchell & Smith, a prominent legal firm, to wage war against the boycotters. Yesterday warrants were issued for every one of the Knights of Labor men who caused the arrest of the grocers last Sunday. Strange to say, they were arrested under a clause of the civil rights law passed by the republican legislature, making it misdemeanor to conspire to injure the busine or employment of any one. The penalty is $1,000 or two years' imprisonment. The men were all admitted to bail in the s.m. of $500 each. The labor union say they will spring another bombshell on Tracy & Russell.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 9.—[Special.]—Cold weather Thursday night and last night struck another blow at truck. Some of the truckers are plowing up peas and replanting. There is great devastation in the eastern section. The ground was frozen several inches deep on Friday. Corn, peas, potatoes, and raddishes were killed., Strawberries were seriously injured. Corn and potatoes, which looked very promising, were killed to the roots. Pears were well advanced, some of them being as large as a hazel nut. They were all killed. Vegetation Killed by the Cold.

HEAVY LOSS IN DETROIT. The Flames Destroy Several Large Build-

DETROIT, Mich., March 9.—Fire was disovered this morning in the rear of Gray & Baffy's six-story brick furniture factory, Concord street west. The fire was on the fifth floor, and before the department got to work had gained great headway among the very dry materials. Although a general alarm was turned in soon after, the flames spread rapidly to the roof and then downward until the roof and upper floor fell, carrying the fire to the ground. The Carroll & Hunter Chair company establishment, on the west, went next and the Ostler Printing company and Carroll Cigar manufactory, occupying two numbers on the east followed. At midnight the fire was under control, but still burning furiously. This is the largest fire Detroit has experienced since D. M. Ferry's seed store fire, in January, 1886, when the loss ran into the millions. The total loss is estimated at $250,-000, partly covered by insurance. The burned buildings were the property of Senator James McMillan, and valued at $70,000.

SENT HIM A DECORATION, Emperor William Writes a Letter to Herr

Boctticher. BERLIN, March 9 .- To mark the anniversary of the death of his grandfather, Emperor William I, the emperor today sent an aide-de-camp to Herr Von Boctticher, minister of the interior, with a decoration of the order of the linterior, with a decoration of the order of the Black Eagle. Accompaying the decoration was a letter in the emperor's own handwriting, in which he associates honor with the memory of the late emperor, to whom he refers as the pioneer of the social reform movement, which he says he has resolved to pursue with persistence. In all his efforts to carry the desired reform, the emperor says he has found Herr Von Boetticher his main supporter and he further exposes his warm acknowledgment of the minister's service to the state, assures him of his full confidence and appreciation, and says he hopes the bestowal of the decoration will spur him on to further work in the same causes. The incident is much remarked in connection with rumors that Herr Von Boetticher will succeed Prince Bismarck in the office of chancellor. interior, with a decoration of the order of the

Then in a white heat of passion she issued the order, "Never let that man preach here again." Canon Liddon has neuer preached and never will again before her majesty.

French Elections.

Paris, March 9.- Elections were held in Parts, March 9.—Elections were held in a number of districts today for members of the chamber of deputies. In the first district of Toulouse, M. Leygue, radical and socialist, received 5,292 votes; M. Susine 3,255. In the second district M. Salvinae, radical and socialist, who was unseated by the chamber of deputies some time ago, received 4,306; M. Lambat, conservative, 5,124; and M. Sirwin, opportunist, 4,058. The Emperor at the Tomb.

Berlin, March 9.—The imperial mausoleum at Charlottenburg was dedicated today. The route to the tomb was lined with sightseers, who respectfully uncovered their heads as the imperial party passed on its way to attend the ceremony. Services were of an impressive character. They were conducted by Court Chaplain Koegel. The Knights of the Biack Eagle were present, headed by Count Von Moltke. Prince Bismarck was absent. Before returning to the palace, the emperor and members of his family placed wreaths upon the coffins of William and Augusta, which were completely hidden from sight by the quantities of fresh flowers that were upon them.

Denouncing the Outrages.

London, March 9.—Two thousand radicals and socialists met in Hide Park to protest against Siberian outrages. Burns, the labor agitator, was the chief speaker. He de-nounced the outrages, and called upon the English government to use its influence with Russia to prevent a recurrence of such acts of cruelty. Michael Davitt, Mrs. Besant, and other promised speakers, failed to attend the meeting.

Rough in Gaston County Goes to the House of Several Citizens and, Finding Them Absent, Insuits Their Wives.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 9 .- [Special.]-Particulars of the killing of William Lindsay, of Gaston county, by George W. Collier, have been received. The killing seems to have been justifiable. It appears that Lindsay, who was a man of very little character, went to a naighbor's residence and neighbor's residence and grossly insulted the lady of the house. The lady picked up a big stick and ran him out of the house. The scoundrel then went over to Collier's house, and as there was no one at home but Mrs.
Collier, he offered the same insult to that lady.
Mrs. Collier screamed for help, and some one ran off for her husband.

Before Collier reached home, however, Lindsay had left and gone, Collier got his pistol and went off to look for Lindsay and found him setting on a barrel in a store in the neighborhord. Without any parleying Collier pulled his pistol and shot Lindsay twice in the breast before he could rise from the barrel. Be fore the third shot was fired Lindsay got up exclaiming, "Oh, my God!" and started out when Collier shot him twice more and he Collier then went up to him and fired the last shot he had into his body. Collier is now in jail.

TAMPERING WITH THE MAIL.

An East Tennessee Route Agent Charged with Rifling Letters. CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 9.—[Specail.] For some months frequent complaints have been made of missing letters on the main line of the East Tennessee railroad system, and Division Postoffice Inspector Sharp undertook to find the thief. As the result of the inquiry, Mail Agent Tom M. Montgomery was arres in this city shortly after his train came in to-day, and on his person was found a two dollar bill and a decoy letter mailed the same day, and several other letters, which were genuine, taken from the mail. Montgomery was brought before United States Commi Hope, and committed to jail in default of bond. He waived preliminary examination and was remanded until Thursday. HOW THE LOTTERY SUFFERS.

Thoroughly posted men say the proportion of this sort of crime in this section is about three to one as against the north, and claim that this is due to the large mail for the lottery. The supposition is that a letter addressed to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, contains money, and as he has no redress it is almost perfectly safe to steal, rifle and destroy them. One man who used to throw mail years ago, acknowledges, in a very quiet way, that he used to "knock down" on the average of $1,000 a month from lottery letters, but never allowed himself to touch any others, and as a consequence never came to grief.

Horrible Treatment in the Workhouse in Kansas City. KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 9.-The charge made by Alderman Ford, concerning the frightful treatment of prisoners confined in the workhouse, are found to be true. Two reporters of the Times investigated the matter vesterday, and find that about seventy-five males prisoners are crowded into narrow and filthy cells recking with vermin and not pro-vided with sanitary regulations. The men are constantly manacled with shackles weighing from five to thirteen pounds, and are, therefore, prevented from bathing. Two of the prisoners said they had not taken a bath for two months. Many of the cells are five feet long, and in some of them are confined men six feet tall.

Over these seventy-five prisoners there are two guards. The guards say that on account of the desperate character of the men it is or the desperate character of the men it is necessary to shackle them to prevent their escape so long as they alone have to guard them and they remain in their present quar-ters. The building is of wood and the partititions are thin.

It is thought likely that a new brick prison will be erected provided with proper sanitary regulations and a sufficient number of guards to watch the prisoners with the shackles.

A North Carolina Preacher Charged With Blgamy.

RALKIGH, N. C., March 9.—[Special.]—Recently Rev. J. C. Stowell, pastor of the Baptist church at Statesville, was suspended from the ministry. The matter has caused considerable stir. Stowell was proven by a letter from ex-Governor Begole, of Michigan, to have two wives. He has written a letter denouncing these statements, and making charges against a member of the congregation of Statesville Baptist church. That church has now adopted a resolution exonerating this has now adopted a resolution exonerating this member, and stating that Stowell is a bad man.

A letter from ex-Mayor Stone, of Flint, sustains the allegation of ex-Governor Begole concerning him. A. J. Ward, of Flint, who has been at Statesville, was begged by Stowell not to expose him. During the latter part of Stowell's stay at Statesville he was forbidden at least two houses, where he appeared under the influence of liquor. One of the most prominent ministers in the state charges openly that while on his way to church to be installed in the ministry, Stowell made improper overtures to a young lady. SHOT HIS MOTHER.

The young man, on discovery that he had shot his mother, became frantic, and it required the strength of four men to prevent him from committing suicide. Mrs. Stewart was alive today, but there is very little hope of her final recovery.

PERRY, THE WONDER.

The Illiterate Negro Who Preaches Eloquens

The Illiterate Negro Who Preaches Eloquent Sermons While Asleep.

Columbia, S.-C., March 9.—[Special.]—
"Major" Perry, the illiterate and ignorant Edgefield county negro, who, while on what appears to be a trance sleep, preaches learned and eloquent sermons, is still attracting a great deal of attention, and several enterprising citizens of Edgefield county now have the human phenomenon in charge, and are exhibiting him to large audiences. The modus operandi is as follows: Perry goes to bed and lies outstretched in full view of the audience, and by the time the spectators have assembled is fast asleep. After a few moments of apparently sound stumber, his muscles begin to twitch, his limbs to contract, and his whole body becomes contorted into unseemly shapes. This spasm soon passes off, and then he begins to preach. He takes his text from the Bible, naming book changes and verse, all the times naming book, chapter and verse, all the time lying flat on his back with his eyes shut; and for half an hour or more preaches an excellent sermon, using strictly grammatical, and even sermon, using strictly grammatical, and even eloquent language.

At the conclusion of the sermon he sings a hymn to an old air, but the words are entirely new and of his composition. Then comes a prayer and he dismisses the congregation. The text for the sermon preached by Porry Thursday night was announced by him to be found in Paniel sixth change, and fracts for the sermon preached. ound in Daniel sixth chapter and twenty-first verse, and that it read as follows: "Then said verse, and that it read as follows: "Then said Daniel unto the king, O king, live forever."

The words of the text will be found to be exactly correct, which is certainly marvelous, when it is positively known that the negrocamnot read a word nor had he ever heard the text read or spoken to him by any one. Four reputable physicians of Edgefield—Drs. Trotter, Couster, Strother and Jennings—were present on this occasion and made a physical, anatomical and psychalegical examination of the preacher and pronounced the mystery as one beyond the ken of their art to find out.

Another remarkable thing is that this un-conscious preaching goes on every night, no matter where he may be, whether before an audience or not, except on Friday night, when he is dumb.

ROBT. GARRETT IN NORTH CAROLINA

The Party, Unable to Get Accommodations in Asheville, Go to Hot Springs. RALEIGH, N. C., March 9.—[Special.]—Robert Grarrett, the unfortunate ex-president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, was in Asheville yesterday. Dispatches a week ago stated that Mr. Garrett had left home in Baltimore for a trip to Cuba. Yesterday the railway people at Asheville, received a telegram requesting them to secure apartments for a party consisting of Mr. Garrett and wife, William Gilmer, president of the Maryland Ceutral and wife; C. R. Mackenzie, district agent of the Baltimore and Ohio, and Dr. Henry B. Jacobs, of Baltimore. They arrived yesterday afternoon in Mr. Garrett's two private cars. On arriving they heard that no accommodations could be secured save that at a private residence. They decided it was too far away from town and would not answer.

Although Asheville was the objective point, on account of the impossibility of securing saitable accommodation they were forced to abandon the visit, and left last evening for Hot Springs, N. C., where they will remain some time. timore for a trip to Cuba. Yesterday the rail-

Have Abandoned the Fight.

RALKIGH, N. C., March 9.—[Special.]—The pool which was framed to contest the state's right to impose a license tax commerdial fertilizers, went to pieces yesterday. The commissioner of agriculture tells me that Allison and Addison, of Richmond, who were leaders in the formation of the pool, has applied for a license. The breaking up of the pool is due to the prompt action of the commissioner, who notified the manufacturers who were in it that he would seize all their fertilizers found in the state. Then the Farmers' Alliance took part in the fight and gave notice that it would boycott any brands of fertilizers which it might be attempted to sell without the payment of license. The commissioner decides that there is nothing in the state law which prevents the purchasing and bringing into the state of any brand of fertilizer for private use, but if said fertilizer is sold again it is subject to the tax prescribed by law.

AN INTERESTING SUIT IN COURT AT MACON. The Story of a Vild Young Millionaire Who Promised Large Fees to Lawyers—A Reconcilation Stops the Suits.

Macon, Ga., March 9.-[Special.]-A very Interesting case will probably be decided tomorrow in Bibb superior court. About two years ago there arrived in Macon from Chicago a young millionaire named E. B. Ward. He was about seventeen years old at that time. He had been sent to school somewhere north by his mother, and was allowed considerable money. He ran away from school and came to Macon in a Savannah steamer. Soon after his arrival he became enamored with a member of the demi monde, was constantly in her rompany, and in time the couple were arraigned before the recorder. They escaped by payment of a fine. The woman's fascination over young Ward continued, and no amount of persuasion could induce him to return to his mother in Chicago. Finally she and her agent. Mr. Thomas Lyon, of Chicago, who was also her brother, ceased fending him money in the hope that tinancial needs would cause him to return home. For awhile this restriction of money had no effect. his arrival he became enamored with a mem-financial needs would cause him to return home. For awhile this restriction of money had no effect.

Later he engaged the law firm of R. W. Patterson and Robert Hodges to enter suit against his mother and her agent for his share of the estate, amounting to one million dollars, or a yearly allowance of a very large sum. A bill was filed in Bibb superior court, which read: "S B. Price, next freend for E. B. Ward vs. Thomas Lyon and Mrs. Cameron." The father of Ward died, and Mrs. Ward married a Mr. Cameron. Finally young Ward became repentant and returned to his mother in Chicago. About a vear ago Ward married, and his mother allowed him $100,000 as a bridal present. Ward and This wife are now residing in Paris, and he is the father of twins. Mrs. Cameron, his mother, is also living in Paris, he and her wayward son having become thoroughly reconciled, and he having settled flown into more quiet ways of life.

The suit came up for trial in Bibb superior court Friday afternoon, and the anomaly was presented of two different firms of lawyers representing the plaintiff, but on different sides, as it were. Young Ward having become reconciled with his mother and uncle, did not care for the suit to continue, and Hill & Harris, of Macon, were employed by Ward to stop the suit that he had employed Patterson & Hodges to institute. Therefore, on Friday afternoon Judge Miller ordered the suit to be marked settled or stricken from the dockst, but Patterson & Hodges contended that they should be paid fees. When Ward rengaged them he agreed to pay them one hundred thousand dollars if they recovered his share of the estate for him, but as the prodigal son voluntarily returned home and entered into the peaceful enjoyment of the fatted calf, the destated on the prodigal son voluntarily returned home and entered into the peaceful enjoyment of the fatted calf, the destated on the prodigal son voluntarily returned home and entered into the peaceful enjoyment of the fatted calf, the destate of the suit do not call the suit do not call Accommodations.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 9.—[Special.]—Considerable complaint is heard among visitors to this city, when they get ready to depart, of the inability to obtain berths on northbound trains. A number of times several have been compelled to remain over on that account for a day or even longer. Last night several guests of the Pulaski house, who wanted to go to New York on the evening train-found that they could not get berths in Savannah. If they went aboard they would have to take the chance of finding empty ones, and if there were not, the unpleasant alternative of sitting up all night confronted them. This is caused by the fact that only two sections, or four berths, are reserved for Savannah. When the tickets for those are sold applicants have to be turned away, even though there may not be half the berths taken at points south of here. An effort will be made to remedy this next season.

Trains will be required to run at a low rate of speed, so as not to injure the buildings or endanger life. A Railroad on Bay Street.

From the Boston Advertiser.

In these times of "theological unrest" and shifting definitions of doctrine the following, reprinted from a newspaper of twenty-four years ago, will be read with interest:

Dr. Smith, of Concord, N. H., has published the following letter of Daniel Webster to Rev. Thomas Worcester, formerly pastor of the Congregational church in Salisbury, N. H., which is accompanied with a confession of his religious faith, both of which are in his own handwriting:

handwriting: Boscawen, August 8, 1807.—Dear Sir: The Boscawen, August 8, 1807—Dear Sir: The other day we were conversing respecting confessions of faith. Some time ago I wrote down formy own use a few propositions in the shape of articles, intended to exhibit a very short summary of the doctrines of the Christian religion as they inpress my mind. I have taken the liberty to inclose a copy for your perusal. I am, sir, with respect, yours, etc.

I believe in the doctrines of foreknowledge and predestina-tion, as thus expounded, I do not believe in those doctrines as imposing any fatality or necessity of men's actions, or any way infring-

I believe religion to be a matter not of demonstration, but of faith. God requires us to give credit to the truths which he reveals, not because we can prove them, but because he declares them. When the mind is reasonably convinced that the Bible is the Word of God, the only remaining duty is to receive its doctrines with full confidence in their truth and practice them with a pure heart.

I believe that the Bible is to be understood and believed in the plain and obvious meaning of its passages; since I can not persuade myself that a book intended for the instruction and conversion of the whole world should cover its true meaning in such mystery and doubt that none but critics and philosophers can discover it.

Her name is Mattie Jackson, and she is well known by the police in various large cities in the south. Ever since her crime and flight detectives have been after her. It was learned today that her trunk had been found, and that she left Asheville on the night of the robbery with a man in a buggy. They traveled toward Hendersonville, and fourteen miles from Asheville the vehicle broke down, necessitating leaving off the trunk at the house of a man named John Clayton. The trunk was found to contain only her clothes. The detectives think that she is hiding somewhere in Greenville county, South Carolina.

"For five years I was sick every spring, but last rear began in February to take Hood's Sarsaparilla

I used five bottles and have not seen a sick day since." G. W. SLOAN, Milton, Mass. "Seeing the trunk of a representative of Hood's Sarsaparilla at this hotel, the Central, Atlanta, reminds me that I would like to give my testimony and have it published for the benefit of any whom to prove this, buy a bottle of Hood's Sarsapariallo and measure its contents. You will find it to hold 100 teaspoonfuls. Now read the directions, and you will find that the average dose for persons of different ages is less than a teaspoonful. This is certainly conclusive evidence of the peculiar strength and economy of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Give it a srial this spring.

Purifies the Blood

"My little boy, for whom I procured Hood's Sar-saparilla, was so badly afflicted with scrofula that the whole top of his head was one complete mass of matter. I doctored with him 2 years and found no relief, and then I heard of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I gave him one bottle, and there was a most won-derful improvement. I then got one bottle more it may concern. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla for scrofula, impure blood, etc., and the result convinced me that the medicine is all its manufacturers claim it to be. In my opinion it has no equal, and I cannot recommend it too highly to those who are afflicted with impure blood." John P. Cartwright, Augusta, Georgia.

The Sermon Preached Yesterday Morning by Rev. Dr. Talmage at the Tabernacie to a Large Congregation.

BROOKLYN, March 9.—[Special.]—The Rev. T. D. Witt Talmage, D. D., preached in the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, this morning, to an overflowing congregation. After expound-ing appropriate passages of Scripture he an-nounced his subject to be "Would You Like to Live Your Life Over Again?" His text was Job "All that a man hath will he give for his life." That is untrue. The Lord did not say it, but Satan said it to the Lord, when the evil one wanted Job still more afflicted. The record is: "So went Satan forth from the presence of the Lord and smote Job with sore boils." And Satan has been the author of all cruptive disease since then, and he hopes by poisoning the blood to poison the soul. But the result of the diabolical experiment which left Job victor proved the falsity of the Satanic remark—"All that a man hath will he give for his life." Many a captain who has stood on the bridge of the steamer till his passengers got off and he drowned; many an engineer who has kept his hand on the throttle valve or his foot on the brake until the most of the train was saved while he went down to death through the open drawbridge; many a fireman who plunged into a blazing house to get a sleeping child out, sacrificing his life in the attempt, and thousands of martyrs who submitted to fiery stake and knife of massacre and headman's ax and guillotine rather than surrender principle, proving that in many a case my text was not true, when it say,: "All that a man hath will he give for his life." the diabolical experiment which left Job

"All that a man hath will be give for his life."

But Satan's falsehood was built on a truth. Life is very precious, and if we would not give up all there are many things we would surrender rather than surrender it. We see how precious life is from the fact that we do everything to prolong it. Hence all sanitary regulations, all study of hygiene, all fear of draughts, all waterproofs, all doctors, all medicines, all struggle in crisis of accident. An admiral of the British navy was court matialed for turning his ship around in time of danger and so damaging the ship. It was proved against him. But when his time came to be heard he said: "Gentlemen, I did turn the ship around and admit that it was damaged, but do you want to know why I aged, but do you want to know why I turned it? There was a man overboard, and I wanted to save him, and I did save him, and I did save him, and I the vessels of the British navy." No wonder he was vindicated. Life is indeed very precious. Yea, there are those who deem life so precious they would like to repeat it, they would like to try it again. Thoy repeat it, they would like to try it again. Thoy would like to go back from seventy to sixty, from sixty to fifty, from fifty to forty, from forty to thirty, from thirty to twenty. I purpose for very practical and useful purposes, as will appear before I get through, to discuss the question we have all asked of others, and others have again and again asked of us, would you like to live your life over again?

The fort is that no intelligent and right would you like to live your life over again?

The fact is that no intelligent and right fearing man is satisfied with his past life. We have all made so many mistakes, stumbled into se many blunders, said so many things that ought not have been said and done so many things that ought not to have been done that we can progest at least pinety five nor many things that ought not to have been done that we can suggest at least ninety-five percent of improvement. Now would it not be grand if the good Lord would say to you: "You can go back and try it over again. I will by a word turn your hair to brown or black or golden, and smooth all the wrinkles out of your temple and cheek, and take the bend out of your shoulders, and extirpate the stiffness from the joint and the rheumatic twinge from the foot, and you shall be twenty-one years of age and just what you were when you reached that point before." If the proposition were made I think many thousands would accept it. That feeling caused the ancient search for what was called the Fountain of Youth, the waters of which taken would turn the hair of the octogenarian into the curly locks of a boy, and, which taken would turn the hair of the octogenarian into the curly locks of a boy, and, however old a person who drank at that fountain, he would be young again. The island was said to belong to the group of the Bahamas, but lay far out in the ocean. The great Spanish explorer, Juan Ponce de Leon, fellow voyager with Columbus, I have no doubt felt that if he could discover that Fountain of Youth he would do as much as his friend had done in discovering America. So he put out in 1512 from Porto Rico and cruised about among the Bahamas in search of that fountain. I am glad he did not find it. There is no such fountain. But if there were and its waters were bottled up and find it. There is no such fountain. But if there were and its waters were bottled up and sent abroad at a thousand dollars a bottle, the demand would be greater than the supply, and many a man who has come through a life of uselessness, and perhaps sin, to old age would be shaking up the potent liquid, and if he were directed to take only a teaspoonful after each meal would be so anxious to make sure work he would take a tablespoonful would take a glassful, But some of you would have to go back further than to twenty-one years directed to take a tablespoonful would take a glassful, But some of you would have to go back further than to twenty-one years of age ta make a fair start, for there are many who manage to get all wrong before that period. Yea, in order to get a fair start some would have to go back to the father and mother and get them corrected; yea, to the grandfather and grandmother and have their life corrected, for some of you are suffering from bad hereditary influoness which started a hundred years ago. moner and have their the corrected, for some of you are suffering from bad hereditary influonces which started a hundred years ago. Well, if your grandfather lived his life over again and you father lived his life over again, and you lived your life over again, what a cluttered up place this world would be, a place filled with miserable attempts at repairs. I begin to think that it is better for each generation to have only one chance and then for them to pass off and give another generation a chance. Besides that, if we were permitted to live life over again, it would be a stale and stupid experience. The zest and spur and enthusiasm of life come from the fact that we have never been along this road before, and everything is new, and we are alert for what may appear at the next turn of the road. Suppose you, a man in mid-life or old age, were, with your pregent feelings and large attainments and the proper of the contract the thirties or the twenties or you, a man in mid-life or old age, were, with your pregent feelings and large attainments put back into the thirties, or the twenties, or into the teens, what a nuisance you would be to others and what an unhappiness to yourself. Your contemporaries would not want them. Things that in your previous journey of life stirred your healthful ambition, or gave you pleasurable surprise, or led you into happy interrogation, would only call forth from you a disgusted "Oh, pshaw!" You would be blase at thirty and a misanthrope at forty and unendurable at fifty. The most inane and stupid thing imaginable would be a second journey of life. It is aimsing to hear people say: "I would like to live my life over again, if I could take my present experience and knowledge of things back with me and begin under those improved auspices." Why, what an uninteresting boy you would be with your present attainments in a child's mind. No one would want such a boy around the house. A philosopher at twenty, a scientist at fifteen, and archæologist at ten and a domestic nuisance all the time. An oak crowded into an acorn. A Rocky mountain eagle thrust back into the egg-shell from which it was hatched.

Beside that, if you took life over again, you your pregent feelings and large attainments put back into the thirties, or the twenties, or thrust back into the egg-shell from which it was hatched.

Beside that, if you took life over again, you would have to take its deep sadness over again. Would you want to try again the griefs and the heart breaks and the bereavements through which you have gone? What a mercy that we shall never be called to suffer them again! We may have others bad enough, but those old ones never again. Would you want to go othrough the process of losing your father again or your mother again or your companion in life again or your child again? If you were permitted to stop at the six fieth milestone or the fiftieth milestone or the fiftieth milestone or the twentieth, your experience would be something like mine one day last November in Italy. I walked through a great city with a friend and two guides, and there were in all the city only four persons and they were those of our own group. We went up and down the streets, we entered the houses, the museums, the temples, the theaters. We examined the wonderful pictures on the floor. In the streets were the deep worn ruts of wagons, but not a wagon in the city. On the front steps of mansions the word "Welcome," in Latin, but no human being to greet us. The only bodies of any of the citizens that we saw were petrified and in the museum at the gates. Of the thirty-five thousand people who once lived in those homes and worshiped in those temples and clapped in those theaters, not one left. For eighteen hundred years that city of Pompeii had been buried before modern exploration scooped out of it the laws of Vesuvius! Well, he who should be permitted to return on the pathway of his earthly life and live it over again would find as lonely and sad a pilgrimage. It would be an exploration of the dead past. The old school house, the old church, the old home, the old play ground either gone or occupied by others, and for you more depressing than was our Pompeian visit in November.

Beside that, would you want to risk the temptations of life over again? From the fact that you are here I conclude that though in many respects your life may have been unfortunate and unconsecrated you have got on so far tolerably well, if nothing more than tolerable. As for, myself, though my life has been far from being as consecrated as I would like to have had it, I would not want to try it over again, lest next time I would do worse. Why just look at the temptations we have all passed through and just look at the multitudes who have gone completely under. Just call over the roll of your school mates and college mates, the clerks who were with you in the same factory with just as good prospects as you, who have come to complete mishap. Some young man that told you that he was going to be a millionaire and own the fastest trotters on Westchester turnpike and retire by the time he was thirty-five years of age, "you do not hear from for many years, and know nothing about him until some day he comes into your store and asks for five cents to get a mug of beer. You, the good mother, she became r, poor waif of the street, and went into the blackness of darkness forever. Live life over again? Why, if many of those who are now difference, and some take fire of evil passion, and some lose their bearings and run into the skerries, and some are never heard of. Surely on such a treacherous sea as that one voyage is on such a treacherous sea as that one voyage is enough.

Beside all this, do you know if you could have your wish and live life over again it would put you so much further from reunion with your friends in heaven? If you are in the moon of life or the evening of life you are not very far from the golden gate at which you are to meet your transported and emparadised loved ones. You are now, let us say, twenty vears or ten years or one year off from dised loved ones. You are now, let us say, twenty years or ten years or one year off from celestial conjunction. Now suppose you went back in your earthly life thirty years or forty years or fifty years, what an awful post-ponement of the time of reunion! It would be as though you were going to San Francisco to a great banquent and you got to Oakland, four or five miles this side of it, and then came back to Hoboken or Harlem to get a better start; as though you were going to England to be crowned and having come in sight of the mountains of Wales you put back to Sandy Hook in order to make a better yoyage. The further on you get in life, if a voyage. The further on you get in life, if a Christian, the nearer you are to the renewal of broken up companionship. No; the wheel of time turns in the right direction, and it is well t turns so fast. Three hundred and sixty-five revolutions in a year and forward, rather than three hundred and sixty-five revolutions in a year and backward. But hear ye! hear ye! three hundred and sixty-five revolutions in a year and backward. But hear ye! hear ye! while I tell you how you may practically live your life over again and be all the better for it. You may put into the remaining years of your life all you have learned of wisdom in your past life. You may make the coming ton years worth the preceding forty or lifty years. When a man says he would like to live his life over again because he would do so much better, and yet goes on living as he has always lived, do you not see that he stultifies himself? He proves that if he could go back he would do almost the same as he has done before. If a man eat green apples some Wednesday in cholera time and is thrown into fearful cramps and says on Thursday: "Lewish I had been more prudent in my diet; oh, if I could live Wednesday over again," and then on Friday eats apples just as green, it proves that it would have been no advantage for him to live Wednesday over again. And if we, deploring our past life and with the idea of improvement, long for an opportunity to try it over again, yet go on making the same mistakes and committing the same sins, we only demonstrate that the "ropetition of our existence would afford no improvement. It was green apples before and it would be green apples over again. As soon as a ship captain strikes a rock in the lake or sea he reports it and a buoy is swung over that reef and marines henceforth stand of from that rock.

captain strikes a rock in the lake or sea he reports it and a buoy is swung over that reef and marines henceforth stand off from that rock. And all our mistakes in the past ought to be buoys warning to us to keep in the right channel. There is no excuse for us if we split on the same rock where we split before. Going along the sidewalk at night where excavations are being made, we frequently see a lantern on a framework, and we turn aside, for that lantern says, keep out of this hole. And all along the pathway of life lanterns are set as warnings, and by the time we come to set as warnings, and by the time we come to mid-life we ought to know where it is safe to walk and where it is unsafe.

Beside that, we have all these years been learning how to be useful, and in the next decade we ought to accomplish more for God and the church and the world than in any previous four decades. The best way to atone for past indolence or past transgression is by future assiduity. Yet you often find Christian men who were not converted until they were forty indolence or past transgression is by fature assiduity. Yet you often find Christian men who were not converted until they were forty or fifty, as old age comes on, saying: "Well, my work is about done and it is time for me to rest." They gave forty years of their life to Satan and the world, a little fragment of their life to God, and now they want to rest. Whether that belongs to comedy or tragedy I say not. The man who gave one half of his earthly existence to the world and of the remaining two-quarters one to Christian work and the other to rest, would not, I suppose, get a very brilliant reception in heaven. If they are any dried leaves in heaven they would be appropriate for his garland; or if there is any throne with broken steps it would be appropriate for his fingering. My brother, you give nine-tenths of your life to sin and Satan, and then get converted, and then rest awhile in sanctified laziness, and then go up to get your heavenly reward, and I warrant it will not take the cashier of the royal banking house a great while to count out the conditions. I warrant it will not take the cashier of the royal banking house a great while to count out to you all your dues. He will not ask you whether you will have it in bills of large denomination or small. I would like to put one sentence of my sermon in italies, and have it underscored, and three exclamation points at the end of the sentence, and that sentence is the end of the sentence, and that sentence is this: As we cannot live our lives over again is by redoubled holiness and industry in the future.

If this rail train of life has been detained and switched off and is far behind the time table, the engineer for the rest of the way must put on more pressure of steam and go a mile a minute in order to arrive at the right time and place under the approval of conductor and directors.

As I supposed it would be, there are multitudes of young people listening to this sermon on whom this subject has acted with the force of a galvanic battery. Without my saying a word to them, they have soliloquized, saying: "As one cannot live his life over again, and I can make only one trip, I must look out and make no mistakes; I have but one chance and I must make the most of it." My young friends, I am glad you made this application of the sermon yourself. When a minister toward the close of his sermon says: "Now a few words by way of application," people begin to look around for their hats and get their arms through one sleeve of their overcoats, and the sermonic application is a failure. I am glad you have made your own application and that you are resolved, like a Quaker of whom I read years ago, who, in substance, said: "I shall be along this path of life but once and so I must do all the kindness I can and all the good I can." My hearers, the mistakes of youth can never be corrected. Time gone is gone forever. An opportunity passed the thousandth part of a second has by one leap reached the other side of a great eternity. In the autumn when the birds migrate you look up and see the sky black with wings and the flocks stretching out into many leagues of air, and so today I look up and see two large wings in full sweep. They are the wings of the flying year. That is followed by a flock of 365, and they are the flying days. Each of the flying days is followed by a flock of 365, and they are the flying days. Each of the flying days is followed by a flock of 365, and they are the flying hours, and each of these is followed by sixty, and these are the flying minutes. Where did this great flock start from? Eternity past. Where are they bound. Eternity to come. You might as well go a-gunning for the qualis that whistled last year in the meadows or the robbins that last year carroled in the sky as to try to fetch down and bag one of the past opportunities of your life. Do not say, 'I will lounge now and make it up afterwards.' Young men and boys, you can't make it up. My observation is that those who in youth sowed wild oats, to the end of their life sowed wild oats, and that those who start sowing Genesee wheat always sow Genesee wheat And then the reaping of the harvests is so different. There is grandfather now. He has lived to old age because his habits have been good. His eyesight for heaven is radient. His hearing is not so acute as it once what he has brought for her. But he easily catches the music raised from supernal spheres. Men passing in the streets take off their hats in reverence and women say: "What a good old man he is." Seventy or eighty years all for God and for making this world happy. Splendid! Glorious! Magnificent! He will have hard work getting into heaven, because those whom he helped toget there will fill up and crowd the gates to tell him how glad they are at his coming until he says: "Please to stand back a little till I pass through and cast my crown at the feet of Him whom having not seen I love." I do not know what you call that. I call it the harvest of Genesee wheat.

Out yonder is a man very old at forty years of content in the property of the revent of the parts of the call it the harvest of Genesee wheat.

Out yonder is a man very old at forty years of age, at a time when he ought to be boyuant as the morning. He got bad habits on him very early, and those habits have become worse. He is a man on fire, on fire with alcoholism, on fire with all evil habits, out with the world and the world out with him. Down and falling deeper. His swollen hands in his threadbare pockets and his eyes fixed on the ground, he passes through the street, and the ground, he passes through the street, and the quick step of an innocent child or the strong step of a young man or the roll of a prosperous carriage maddens him, and he curses society and he curses God. Fallen sick with no resources, he is carried to the almshouse. A loathsome spectacle, he lies all day long waiting for dissolution, or in the night rises on his cot and fights apparitions of what he might have been and of what he will be. He started life with as good a prospect as any man on the American continent, but there he is a bloated carcass waiting for the shovels of public charity to put him five feet under. He has only reaped what he sowed. Harvest of wild oats! "There is a way that seemeth right to a man, but the end thereof is death." Young man, as you cannot live life over again, however, you may long to do so, be sure to have your one life right. There is in this august assembly I wot not, for we are made up of all sections of this land, and from many lands, some young man has gone away from home and perhaps under some little spite or evil persuation of another, and his parents know not where he is. My son, go home! Do not go to sea! Don't go tonight where you may be tempted to go. Go home! Your father will be glad to see you and your mother, I need not tell you how she feels. How I would like to make your parents a present of their wayward boy, repentant and in his right mind. I would like to write them a letter and you to carry the letter, saying: "By the blessing of God on my sermon I introduce to you one whom you have never seen before, for he has become a new creature in Christ Jesus." My boy, go home and put ground, he passes through the street, and the quick step of an innocent child or the strong before, for he has become a new creature in Christ Jesus." My boy, go home and put your tired head on the bosom that nursed you so tenderly in your childhood years. A young Scotchman was in battle taken captive by band of Indians, and he learned their language and adopted their habits. Years passed on, but the old Indian chieftain never forgot that but the old Indian chieftain never forgot that he had in his possession a young man who did not belong to him. Well, one day this tribe of Indians came in sight of the Scotch regiments from whom this young man had been captured, and the old In-dian chieftain said: "I lost my son in battle, and I know how a father feels at the loss of a son. Do you think your father is yet alive?" son. Do you think your father is yet alive?"
The young man said: "I am the only son of my father, and I hope he is still alive." Then said the Indian chieftain: "Because of the loss of my son this world is a desert. You go loss of my son this world is a desert. You go free. Return to your countrymen. Revisit your father, that he may rejoice when he sees the sun rise in the morning and the trees blossom in the spring." So I say to you, young man, captive of waywardness and sin: Your father is waiting for you. Your mother is waiting for you. Your sisters are waiting for you. Go home!

"Dr. King's Royal Germetuer is almost a panace

"Dr. King's Royal Germetuer is almost a panacea for all diseases of women!"

Such was the expression of a lady who was cured with Royal Germetuer of indigestion, debility, wasting of fiesh, shriveled skin, diabetes and disease of the bladder and kidneys, after several physicians and many remedies had been tried in vain. It builds up from the first dose, the patient quickly feeling its invigorating and health giving influence. It increases the appetite, aids digestion, clears the complexion and speedily brings bloom to the cheek, health to the body, and joy to the heart.

to the cheek, health to the body, and joy to the heart.

Thousands of certificates, voluntarily sent for the benefit of suffering humanity, attest its virtues and sound its praise. It makes no mistake in diagnosis, or creato one disease while curing another. It cures without fall, indigestion, insomnia, diabetis, eczema, blotches, catarrh, and diseases peculiar to females. If you are weak and debilitated and need building up, strengthening and renewing, Germetuer will do it. It is as palatable as lennonade, and never fails to benefit. In order to place this imeomparable remedy within reach of all, the price has been reduced from $2.50 to $1.50 per concentrated bottle, which makes one gallon of medicine as per directions accompanying each bottle. For sale by the Atlantic Germetuer Company, 14 North Broad street, Atlanta, Ga., and by druggists.

HEALTH IS WEALTH.

You must have health to acquire or enjoy wealth. Without health it is an uphill business to accumulate wealth or even make a living; and the wealth of Nanderbilt or an Astor would be a thankless gift without health to enjoy it, S. S. S. is the great tonic and blood purifier to preserve good health, to build up the system and rejuvenate the body, and brace up a delicate constitution. Sick or well, take S. S. S. There is no man, woman or child who will not be benefitted by taking a few bottles of S. S. S. in the spring and summer.

Dade City, Fla., Jan. 30th, '90.—I have used your valuable remedy for a number of years, and consider it the best blood purifier and tonic I have ever used. In fact I would not attempt to enter upon a spring or summer in this climate without it, I never tire of saying a good word for S. S. S. when I have an opportunity.

H. W. COLEMAN.

412 E. Fourth Street, Kansas City, Mo.—I have tried all patent medicines, but never found one like the S. S. S. I was troubled with weakness incident to women, pain in the back and chest. When I began taking your medicine I weighed only 84 pounds. To-day I weigh 151, and feel well and hearty.

ATLANTA, GA., MARCH 9, 1890.

A Day's Work. Lord Salisbury's proposed eight hour bill will meet with unexpected opposition in parliament.

A law shortening the hours of labor is not necessarily a good thing for the workingman. This is Mr. Giadstone's idea, and his record as the wage-earner's friend commands the confidence of the British masses. Mr. Gladstone believes that the length of a day's work is controlled by many conditions with which legislation has nothing to do.

Some kinds of work are light and in doors while others are hard and exposed to the weather. There is great competition in certain lines of labor, and little or none in others. The laws of demand and supply should naturally regulate labor conditions.

When a parliament or a legislature interferes between employers and their hands it is a long step towards state socialism. Lord Salisbury would hesitate before indorsing the German emperor's declaration that "it is the duty of the state to so regulate the duration and nature of labor as to insure the health, the morality and the supply of all the economic wants of the workingman." Yet his contemplated labor bill is leading him in that direction.

The open and unconscious advocates of state socialism in Europe and in this country should note the fact that the German emperor is for socialism and against the socialists. He is willing to do something for the people, but he is determined to prevent the people from doing anything for them-The American idea heretofore has been radically opposite. In America a man enjoys life, liberty and happiness in his own way, provided he does not wrongfully injure others. This habit of looking out for themselves has made our people independent and self-reliant. Socialism would make every man the child or ward of the state, and the virtuous and vicious, the industrious and idle, would all expect the government to take care of them. Mr. Gladstone is right in opposing the entering wedge of socialism. When the government regulates the day's work it will regulate the day's wages, and finally interfere to such an extent that neither the workingman nor his employer will have any freedom of action-they will simply be a part of a government machine.

It is about time to recognize the fact that a government is sometimes most beneficial when it lets a man's business alone.

Frauds and Their Arguments.

Those who have been upholding the fraud of republican civil service reform are at their wit's end, as the investigation into the methods of the commissioners has amply shown.

It is now charged by some of the reformers that Mr. Harrison and his administration are behind this "attack" on truly good men, but the charge is not a reasonable one, for it is well-known, in spite of his protestations and pledges that Mr Harrison has never for a moment permitted the civil service law to stand in the way of his appointments. Only the other day Clarkson was boasting to a newspaper correspondent of the number of fourth-class postmasters he had turned out of office on the ground that they are democrats. He said that the job was a fatiguing one, but he hoped to have them all out by the time Mr. Harrison celebrated the anniversary of his occupation of the white house.

Still, if the president were perfectly honest in his intentions, he could well afford to now going on, for it has demonstrated that civil service reform as it is carried on by the commissioners appointed to execute the law, is a sham and a mockery, like all other republican schemes of reform. Several disclosures have been made, but one is sufficient to show the true inwardness of the reform business. A man named Shidy, an employe in the Milwaukee postoffice, confessed to some crookedness under the civil service regulations in which the postmaster was aplicated. The crookedness was Shidy's, but his operations were carried on with the consent and approval of the postmaster. After Shidy's confession, the postmaster was removed, but Shidy was given a comfortable place in one of the departments at the solicitation of Roosevelt, who is one of the perfected products of reform.

All these facts have come out, and the members of the commission and the friends of reform defend them in the most complacent manner. "If criminals who turn state's evidence," says one of the reformers, "could not be protected by the public prosecutor many of the greatest crimes would go unpun-

This argument is quite worthy of the sham reformers, and is characteristic of their What would be thought of a public prosecutor who, in addition to permitting a criminal who turned state's evidence to go free, should provide him with a comfortable office? And yet this is what has been done in the case of Shidy, and Mr. Roosevelt appears to be immensely proud of the performance.

The Year's Progress.

When the pessimists in our midst talk called to the figures quoted by Senator Coke in his recent speech.

Since 1880 the value of southern property has increased from $2,913,436,095 to $4,220, 166,400, Our railroad mileage has doubled. Our cotton crop has increased a million and a half bales. Our national banking capital has received an addition of about thirty millions. We produce five times as much pig iron. Our cotton mills and other factories have more than doubled in number. Such a record of progress for the brief peried of ten years speaks for itself. In the | work they had done! face of these statistics, which were carefully ompiled by the Baltimore Manufacturers' Record in December last, it is idle nonsens to talk about the poverty of the south. Localities and individuals may have failed to regain their former prosperity, but taken as a whole this region has no reason to complain. On the contrary, we are leaping to the front, and the census of 1860 showing that the south had forty-four per cent of the realth of the country will soon be repeated.

Some Alleged Lunatics. The New York newspapers are poking fun at Colonel A. H. Rogers, because since his release from a lunatic asylum he has declared that many sane persons are locked up in such institutions. It is not right to pass judgment on the natter without studying the facts of the case. We do not believe that sane people who conduct themselves properly run much risk of being kidnapped and sent to an asylum, but it must be admitted that some very queer stories appear in the newspapers. Only the other day, in a western state, it was discovered that a sane man had been confined as a lunatic for twenty years, The latest sensation is the Minnick case in Pennsylvania. Minnick had some rather startling ideas, and his family decided to get him out of the way. Upon the certificate of two physicians he was sent to an asylum. But the prisoner was shrewd and persistent. He went to work and obtained a hearing in court. There was no evidence of his insanity. Even the two physicians testified that they merely talked to him ten minutes about the weather and the news of the day. Then they questioned the man's family, and pronounced him a lunatic. The court rdered Minnick to be discharged.

It is not enough to know that such instances are exceptional. People want to feel assured that they cannot occur. The remarkable thing about these outrages is the fact that they always occur in the oldest and most thickly populated states-the states claiming the most advanced civilization.

Some Irch . Specia While all section rilling daily are making rapid advancement visiting militar way, it is the Go way, it is encouraging to note the act that there is greater interest manifested in education among the humbler classes, in what may be termed the poorer districts, than formerly Schools, private and public, appear to be in a flourishing condition, and our weekly exchanges, generally, report good things of their people in the matter of education, as indeed, in everything else.

These are hopeful signs, and in keeping with the general progress which marks the movements of the people of Georgia. And to employ a phrase which has been made to do hard service, but which points a moral, we would say to the people: "Let the good work go on!'

Decayed Vermont.

Vermont is a great republican state. A arge majority of its voters follow the grand old party wherever it leads. They beliete that Ingalls is a prophet and that Chandler is a statesman, and they would be perfectly willing to see every southern state placed under negro rule tomorrow. They would gloat over the corruption and ruin that would ensue, and probably hold town meetngs to celebrate the south's disaster.

But while Vermont seems to be a state for republicanism, its inhabitants have discovered that a climate in which sectionalism and prejudice are the cheif crops, is not calculated to satisfy hearty men. sult is that the rural districts of Vermon are in a state of decay. The farms are deserted, and tho hill towns are tumbling down, so to speak. The real situation has never been described in the newspapers, but travelers who have occasion to pass through the deserted region tell us that the churches and schools in a large number of communi ties are closed, and that in many instances the communities themselves are about to go out of business.

The condition of affairs is so serious, in fact, that the authorities of Vermont have een for some time hunting around for some method of replenishing the fast-dwindling population. It is singular, considering the politics of the state, and the love the republicans profess for the negro, that the eyes of these authorities have never turned to the south. Here is a vast negro population, which, according to the republican theory, take the responsibility of the inquiry that is is restless and discontented, and "anxious to escape from the political bondage, worse than slavery, which the whites have imposed upon them." Many of them are good average farmers, and not a few of the vomen are good cooks and house servants.

It would seem that the mutual interests of the Vermont republicans and the discontented negroes would cause them to rush into each others arms without a formal introduction or the exposure of the long conealed strawberry mark. But the republicans of Vermont have entirely ignored the colored brother. Apparently, he does not enter into their programme at all. They have forgotten that he exists save as a political issue, which can be discussed by candlelight in the deserted halls of the desolate towns. Instead of offering the oppressed negro an asylum, they have gone off to Sweden for immigrants, and to these Vermont offers great inducements. The Swedes are informed that they can get farms of from seventy-five to one hundred acres each at prices ranging from two dollars to five dollars an acre. Each family will be loaned twenty-five dollars in cash and furnished with a cow for a stipulated period.

Evidently the negro is not wanted in Vermont.

They Get There Just the Same.

The announcement that newspaper correspondents would hereafter be excluded from ecret sessions of the senate created considerable comment at the time, but the editors and reporters were neither surprised nor worried over it. They knew that the public depended upon them for the news, and that, in some way or other, they would get about hard times their attention should be it-no matter what it cost, nor the amount of strategy that might be necessary to com pass it. So the senate closed and double-barred its heavy doors against them, and put a seal thereon, and put a keeper at the door to guard the same. And then the senate went to work in confidence and all good faith, But the newspaper men were at work, too, and when the dignified session was ended and the senators returned to their hotels they found upon their plates the evening newspapers, containing full reports of the this feat is, and will continue to be, a mystery to our representatives, as to others; but the people demand the news, and there is no place so secret, nor so far removed but that the editors will reach it and throw the light of their glowing pages upon it. Modern journalism is a matter for wonder among the uninitiated.

THE beautiful poem, "Ghosts," printed on our editorial page yesterday appeared to be signed by F. L. St. Anthony. This was a freak of the types. The ghosts that good old St. Anthony saw were real flesh and blood af-fairs whose plumpness, if the pictures are to be believed, was not concealed even by pink tights. The poem was by F. L. THE common people of England hate the poble gentleman is not. The other day Lord Abingdon was in a London club frequented by members of the dramatic profession. While there he slapped Miss Gladys Leslie on the back, and when she spoke of going home he struck her with his fist on the mouth, knocked her down, and kicked her into a state of insensibility. He was then expelled from the club, and will be fined in a police court, but his title will shield him from any erious consequences.

THE Calcutta Indian Gentleman relates a most remarkably story: A few days ago Atkama Yatzry, a Bengalese gentleman residing on the flat seven miles north of Shuttezat, saw, as he affirms, an enormous serpent floating along the sky in a white "tezarer" or "wind-cloud." The cloud and its shiny passenger passed directly over Mr. Yatzry's farm, and bore off in the direction of the 'Blue Jungle." Over a score of men, women and boys working along the flat attest that they saw the same hideous monster while in his ethereal flight. One witness describes the serpent as being at least four "taongs" (200 feet) in length and a big around as a man's body, with a head as large as that of a large alligator. He was yellow and black striped, according to all witnesses, and kept continually rolling over and darting out his head in genuine snake fashion. The natives are much excited over the matter.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Whitehall and West End Car Service The public are certainly entitled to some right nd comforts from the management of the above orporation. No community has been so patien corporation. No community has been so patient and put up with such serious discomforts as have the patrons of this line. One complaint after an-other has been made, and no attention given it. other has been made, and no attention given it. Not only are we given rough and dirty cars to ride in at an unpardonable slow rate of speed, but our lives are actually endangered on account of the miserable worn out condition of the track. Only last night, cold and rainy as it was, with a car full of passengers, on account of defects in track, the car jumped the track at the second turnout, and the passengers had to get out and tramp in the mud and assist in putting the car on the track. This same car had not gone very much farther, when it again jumped the track, leaving it eight or ten feet, nearly turning over with a car full of frightened passengers, and injuring some quite seriously.

it eight or ten feet, nearly turning over with a car full of frightened passengers, and injuring some quite seriously.

The caralready weak and worn out, was so disabled from the shock, it could go no further, and is, at this writing, standing near the track, where it went off, as a monument to the enterprise of this public-loving company. After this the passengers were forced to walk home through the mud and rain.

How much longer such service as this is to be continued, is assuming quite a serious phase. The property owners along the line are awakening to the fact that unless a change is made, their property will be very much depreciated, as it is already, and to avert this, unless a decided improvement is made by the company; a very strong feeling can be aroused looking to the establishment of a new line, which, when once set in motion, will be difficult to subdue.

If, however, it still be the present company's motto, like Vanderbilt—"the public be d—d"—as it seems now to be, then the sooner the property holders and patrons get together and determine they will not submit to this treatment longer the better.

Mr. Hurt Replies to Mr. Haas. EDITORS CONSTITUTION: I desire to reply to card from Mr. Haas appearing in your issue of to-day. In speaking of the Butler street sewer, Mr. Haas says: "Had Mr. Hunt undertaken to inform himself he would have discovered an expenditure on that sewer in two years that I served on the sewer committee of nearly $20,000." For Mr. Haas's information I will state that I have looked into this question of sewers; commenced to do so long prior to his appointment as chairman of the sewer committee, and have given the matter pretty close attention since his appointment. Mr. Haas says I have made misstatements about this Butler street sewer in saying that it had been neglected. Let's see. In 1888 the committee of which Mr. Haas was chairman has appropriated for exstending this sewer about $18,000, If have forgotten the exact figures) and at the same meeting of the council, as I remember, there was appropriated $22,000 to be avacanded in extending the Fryor street sewer and on that sewer in two years that I serv tended short distances, but nothing was the Batier street sewer proper, while the Friestreet sewer was again extended by a liberal appropriation. Is this not true? Do not the records show it? And was it not on this account that such complaint came from citizens of the fourth and sixth wards last summer? I am in favor of building sewers, but am not in favor of bonding the city to do so. I think, too, there should be a just distribution of expenditures.

Mr. Haas does me injustice when he charges that I am moved to oppose the issue of bonds, because his committee does not propose to extend the mineral spring sewer not recure of counts, because his committee does not propose to extend the mineral spring sewer in the first and fifth wards. I have not even signed a petition for it, nor has he heard any expression from me on the subject. "A guilty conscience needs no accuser." It is true that I am associated with other parties in building a power plant where this sewer now terminates, and it will be necessary to extend it, but, remembering the be necessary to extend it, but, remembering the familiar fable of the "lark and her young ones," we had about made up our minds to build the sewer and pay the cost, as we had to do on Edge-way, Mr. Haas appears yet unsatisfie Edgewood avenue work. He is no By the way, Mr. Haas appears yet unsatisfied with the Edgewood avenue work. He is not satisfied with his past two years' opposition, but now seeks to indict injury by misrepresenting the facts. He says the city has spent $30,000. That we built a sewer at the cost of $13,160.06, and forced the poor to pay for it, and that my only regret seems to be that I had to pay my portion of it. That I claimed the opening of the street would enhance the value of property, but that within thirty days after the street was opened I demanded a lower assessment. He further says that I recently asked for an additional $5,000 to be expended on the property of the East Atlants Land company, and because the council saw fit not to dump any more into that section of the city, I have an attack of the spiece.

I will not denounce Mr. Haas. Really, he deserves credit for enterprise. I wish to give him his dues—will only state the facts in the above cases, and leave the public to pass judgment.

Of the $30,000 Mr. Haas claims the city off the $30,000 Mr. Haas claims the city has paid, the East Atlanta Land company advanced $29,000, and has only received in return $15,000 without interest, $5,000 remaining yet due under contract. It was for the return of this $5,000 we recently petitioned, but the finance committee, of which Mr. Haas is a member, decided they were not required to pay the money un-this $5,000 we recently petitioned, but the finance committee, of which Mr. Haas is a member, decided they were not required to pay the money until the end of the year. I did not petition to have $6,000 spent on the property of the East Atlanta Land company as stated by Mr. Haas.

As to the prophecide who were required to pay for the Edgewood avenuesewer, about one thousand feet of this sewer is what I would term a main stem sewer. It is built of brick and is quite expensive. About half of the property abuting on this portion was owned by the East Atlanta Land company, and the balance by other parties. I asked the city engineer if this sewer should not be built out of the general appropriations. He replied that he knew the committee expected the property owners to pay for it, There was no alternative, but at the same time a large amount of money was being expended on sewers in other sections for which the city paid the entire cost. The East Atlanta Land company paid more than half the entire cost of this sewer and Lanuell to the city engineer and Lanuell to the city engineer and Lanuell to the city engineer and commiss. the entire cost. The East Atlanta Land company paid more than half the entire cost of this sewer and I appeal to the city engineer and commissioner of public works if Ldd not pay every bill without a murnur. And now, in regard to that assessment, which he says I demanded to have reduced. During March, 1888, the East Atlanta Land company entered into a contract with the city and gave a $5,000 bond for its faithful performance. It donated land for street purposes from Ivey to Pryor street and filed a deed with the clerk of council. When the assessmedts were made for the year I discovered that the company ar I discovered that the company ade for the year I dis had been assessed on all of the land donated for streets and the buildings thereon at the former assessments. The buildings had been taken down and practically destroyed and the land belonged to the city for street purposes. Of course I thought the assessors had made a mistake, and requested to have this taken from the company's account, or at least a fair proportion of it. The assessors reported my request to the tax committee, of which I think Mr. Haas was a member, and reported that the committee decided the tax must be paid. Was there ever such an unjust demand from the city council of Atlanta before or since? And yet Mr. Haasidrags this into his arguments why sewer bonds should be issued. Now if these statements be true, and I appeal to the records, not one of Mr. be true, and I appeal to the records, not one of Mr. Haas's statements in regard to the East Atlanta Land company is true. But this is true. While Haas's statements in regard to the East Atlanta Land company is true. But this is true. While the city has agreed to spend $30,000 on the street, the East Atlanta Land company is still due $5,000 of this amount, has donated $125,000 for opening the street, has paid for sewers and other permanent improvements on the street $116,000, and has opened streets in Inman park at a cost of $30,000, which the city now gets free of cost. To recapitulate, the city is out $25,000, and the East Atlanta Land company $246,000. Yours very truly, JOEL HURT.

"Well, go on and tell the story."

"I, among others, was standing on the side-walk near old man Henry Jones's store, and I aw a queer looking abject coming down the street. It was a man somewhat above the ordinary height, with a long, snow white beard and a pair of white mustaches that nearly completed the covering of his face."

That is a curious story, but it is a true one. I do not know why he chooses to wear skirts in preference to trousers, but he does; and that's why he created such a sensation as he walked the streets. ## ADVICE FROM MR. BOOTH.

He Speaks Plain Words to Two Young So-

From the Baltimore American. The other morning Edwin Booth was very much startled when a waiter at the Mount Vernon ho-tel brought two cards to his room bearing the names of two ladies unknown to him. The waiter said the ladies were pretty, and were waiting in the parlor. In a few minutes Booth made his appearance in the parlor, and, much to nis surprise, he found two young and very pretty society girls, one of whom was a had attended every performance since his arrival in Baltimore, and had become so fascinated with him that they had decided to call. CURIOSITIES OF PUNISHMENT.

nimals and Birds Formally Tried and Con-demned for Criminal Offenses. From All the Vear Round In the middle ages the lower animals frequently tried, convicted and punished for various offenses. Mr. Baring Gould has col-lected some curious cases of this kind. In 1296 a pig was burnt at Fontenay-aux-Roses, near Paris, for having eaten a child. In 1386 a Paris, for having eaten a child. In 1386 a judge at Falaise condemned a sow to be mutilated and hanged for a similar offense. Three years later a horse was solemnly tried before the magistrate and condemned to death for having killed a man.

During the fourteenth century oxen and cowsemight be legally killed whenever taken in the act of marauding, and asses, for a first offense, had one ear cropped, for a second offense the other ear, and if after this they were asses enough to commit a third offense, their lives became forfeit to the crown. "Criminal" animals frequently expiated their offenses, like other wealfactors on the reallows but subserbecame forfeit to the crown. "Criminal" animals frequently expiated their offenses, like other malefactors, on the gallows, bat subsequently they were summarily killed, without trial, and their owners mulcted in heavy damages. In the fifteenth century it was popularly be-lieved that cocks were intimately associated with witches; and they were somewhat credited with the common of laying accursed eags, from with the power of laying accursed eags, from which sprang winged serpents. In 1474, at Bale, a cock was publicly accused of having laid one of these dreadful eggs. He was tried, sentenced to death, and, together with his egg was burned by the executioner in the market was burned by the executioner in the market place amid a great concourse of people.

Id 1694, during the witch persecutions in New England, a dog exhibited such strange symptoms of affliction that he was believed to have been ridden by a warlock, and he was accordingly hanged. Snails, flies, mice, ants, caterpillars and other obnoxious creatures have been similarly proceeded against and condemned to various punishments—mostly in ecclesiastical courts. And, stranger still, inanimate objects have suffered the same fate. In 1685, when the Protestant chapel at Rochelle was econdemned to be demolished, the bell thereof was publicly whipped for having chelle was condemned to be demolished, the bell thereof was publicly whipped for having assisted heretics with its tongue. After being whipped it was catechised, compelled to re-cant, and then baptised and hung up in a Roman Catholic place of worship. Probably similar absurdities may have been perpetrated in our own country; for it must be remembered that only in the present reign was the law repealed which made a cart wheel, a tree, or a beast which had killed a man forfeit to the beast which had killed a man forfeit to the state for the benefit of the poor.

It had been said that punishment is not likely to be efficacious unless it swiftly follows the offense. This was improved on by a Barbary Turk who, whenever he bought a fresh Christian slave, had him hung up by the heels and bastnadoed, on the principle, it is supposed—though the application is decidedly singular—that prevention is better than cure.

In his visit to Switzerland the traveler re-In his visit to Switzerland the traveler re-called the fact that in almost every me of the streams a Christian had been drowned for his faith. The doctor himself had seen in Winchester Velley, Virginia, the toombstone of a Baptist preacher, who bore on his hands the scars of a scourging received because he preached the word of God.

Mr. A. D. Adair then called on Mr. George Mr. A. D. Adair then called on Mr. George Brown, of the building committee, who stated that his father, Senator Joseph E. Brown, had agreed to subscribe $10,000 on condition that the church secure the lot in its rear. On learning that the present lot was 105 feet square that condition had been withdrawn. Senator Brown thought the church should build for all time, and that a temporary odifice should not be considered. Mr. Brown announced subscriptions for other members of his family, Mr. J. M. Brown, $2,000; Mrs. J. E. Brown, $500; Miss Sallie Brown, $300; Mr. Elijah Brown, $1,000, and George Brown, $1,000.

Judge George Hillyer said he was disposed to be conservative, but the statement of Mr. Brown and the other subscriptions were encouraging. He did not want to cut the garment longer than the cloth, but he had his heart set n a church of Georgia marble.

Judge John T. Pendleton was called on and talked to the point.

"Baptists are stronger in Georgia than any ther denomination," said he; "and we ought to have good houses of worship. In Savannah, Augusta, Macon, Rome and other Georgia eities Baptists have good churches, and there is not one of these places but has a better Baptist check that the places but has a better Baptist check that the places but has a better Baptist check that the places but has a better Baptist check that the places of the place of the tist church than those in Atlanta. one, two and three years, the subscription to be void at the death of the subscripter. This made a great difference whether a man looked at the matter with a desire to give all he could or as little as he could. He said $42,000 had already been subscribed—$20,000 of it at the first meeting of the committee.

The subscription list was then read. The leading subscriptions were: Joseph E. Brown, $10,000; A. D. Adair, $5,000; G. B. Adair, $5,000; E. H. Thornton, $2,000; Mrs. Bozeman and Mrs. Parsons, $3,000; Mrs. L. M. Pitman, $1,000; George Brown, $1,000; George Lowndes, $1,000; John T. Pendleton, $1,000; T. J. Day, $500; J. M. With these were a large number of subscriptions from $50 and $100 up to $300.

The list was then opened to those present, The list was then opened to those present, and in a few minutes the amount was run up to about $50,000. When this was announced, Dr. McDonald, who was quietly jubilant over the result, asked the committee to canvass the membership this week and make a final re-membership this week and make a final report on subsaription next Sunday morning.

Mr. Adair, the chairman, said the subscriptions were to be binfling when $60,000 was reached, and it was important that the amount he carried to that figure at once so that collections might begin. He knew of several gentlemen now absent who would give several thousand dollars, and he was confident that the other $10,000 would be raised in a day or two. The congregation raised in a day or two. The congregation went home enthusiastic over the assurance of a new church.

The subscription of $50,000 was made by only 110 members who averaged nearly $500 each. The total membership is 940, and almost every one will give something. The raising of $10,000 more among the other 800 is a foregone conclusion, and it may be safely stated that the work of construction will begin actively this suring.

New Orleans is well known for her taste for good music, and for her fine opera singers. The Picayune said of the Ideals:

The Boston Ideal Opera company, at the Grand opera house, gave as fine a performance of "Carmen" as has been seen befor a long time. The opera was handsomely staged and costumed, the orchestra efficient and the chorus unusually good. Mr. Mertens, whose voice is rich and powerful, electrified his audience in his torreador song. Miss Emma Romeldi, with the amiability and generosity characteristic of her, consented to sing the inferior part of Michaela to complete the task, and she did it beautifully. A WHOLE FAMILY HALF SUFFOCAT-ED IN A BURNING BUILDING.

Stifling With the Smoke, They Escape in Their Night Clothes and Watch Their Home Consumed by the Flames.

Mrs. S. Lynch and her family went through a thrilling experience this morning.

A few minutes after two o'clock, one of the daughters was awakened by the stifling of the smoke to see the fire blazing on the roof over her head.

In the room were Mrs. Lynch, her two grown daughters and three smaller children.

The building was a long, four-roomed structure, all the rooms set in a row on East Harris, near the corner of Courtland avenue. The room fronting the street was the parlor

The department responded, but

GREELEY'S COURTSHIP.

HOW HE CAME SOUTH FOR HIS BRIDE.

And How She Was Surprised When She Saw Him-Mark Twain's Marriage-Other Gossip

I was greatly entertained in hearing of Horace Greeley's courtship. It was through the persuasive influence of a friend that he began a correspondence with the beautiful Miss Cheney, living somewhere in the south. He had never seen her, but her letters were so interesting and so full of thought and heart that he concluded that he had found his con genial spirit. Love words and an offer of marriage soon followed. Miss Cheney, knowing that only a noble heart could have die tated the letters which he had written her felt that he was indeed her fate, so she con-sented to become his wife. He urged a speedy consummation of their vows, and begged that she would let him appoint a day to come for her, and gave as his reason for not being able to remain but one day in the south, the importance of his business, which required his every hour. She finally agreed to comply with his earnest pleadings. Without a day's delay he left for the home of his affianced bride, and he gave no thought to his wardrobe for the occasion—not even taking a valise—so eager was he to reach the side of the woman he loved. All this time she was weaving happy plans and sweet pictures of the future. As she thought of her hero with a handsome face, commanding form and magnetic and charming presence when he reached the place where she lived he went at once to her home without even a visit to the barber. He found her awaiting him. They met, and stood face to face. It was a trying and very danger ons test of love. THE WOMAN WAS CHARMING.

THE WOMAN WAS CHARMING.
Rhoda White, who was a warm personal friend of Mrs. Greeley, says: "Miss Cheney had, with womanly coquetry decked herself to meet her lover, and looked charming in his eyes, more than fancy had painted her. He stood speechless for a moment, while her large brown eyes opened wide in utter astonishment and amazenent, looking at the figure before her from head to foot and remaining in a state of almost breathless bewilderment, as if unable to believe her sight, so entirely was he unlike what she had imagined. His flax-white hair was long and fell around his neck loosely; his face was as fair as a woman's and its expression was the mirror of a noble heart; his chin was dimpled and on his mouth sat the firmness of his manly character that redeemed the face from effem-inacy. But the figure of the young man before her was painfully without grace, his voice was in the extreme drawling and nasal, and there was in his manner a total disregard of conventional rules or ceremony. Miss Cheney could not conceal her disappointment, but they sat down in a matter-of-fact way to arrange the business part of the immediate marriage.

A BRUSQUE INVITATION. "Can you go now?" he asked, after a half hour's conversation.

"Go where?" she inquired.

"Go to be married! Why, I can't marry you.

Now that I see you, I do not love you," she said, half choked with tears.

His surprise was greater than her's had been. Then came to his aid that firm, strong will that those remember who knew him in after years. He stifled pride, bore the humiliation like a hero, but insisted that she keep her engagement with him. She told me that he had a strange influence over her at the time that rendered her submissive. She said:

'I went into a trance, it seemed to me, and ' I am yet in a state of wonder at my own act. So they were married." With all this we have heard that his home life was a happy one. It seems that they were very unlike in disposition, she being yery romantic and he as practical as Bronte's (Mander presented."

very romantic and he as practical as Bronte's "Monday morning." Yet this beautiful southern woman held his heart always captive, southern woman held his heart always capture, and he blessed her life with the strength and nobleness of his love and care. How it stirs us to hear of the heart throbs and loves of great men! We always want to know if they have as much wealth of heart as of brain. It is sad that love is often sacrificed at the altar of genius and great intellect. Our hearts ache for the tender, loving women whose husbands cannot understand or women whose husbands cannot understand or do not take time to see their mild longing for more than a stray bit of their confidence, and to share their dreams and ambitions and heart-thoughts. Whenever we hear of a man who does not take the trouble or is blind to the high duty of finding out that a rare flower clings to his side which he could cultivate into perfect beauty, and that she could reach the grandeur of the highest thoughts which fill his grandeur of the highest thoughts which fill his brain, we think he must be somewhat stinted in soul not to see that he neglects what would be the sweetest boon to his life; a companion in sympathy who would develop with exquisite delicacy his higher nature.

MARK TWAIN'S MARRIAGE.
We are glad, with our idea of Mark Twain's We are glad, with our idea of Mark Twain's sunny nature, to know that he is always the elegant, chivalrous lover to the little woman who bears his name. His celebrated "sleepy drawl" falls as soft strains of music into her ears. His was a real love match. He was visiting her brother, with whom he had formed a strong friendship on an ocean voyage, and at the first glimpse of the fair sister he lost his

POLITICS AND BUSINESS.

Changing the subject from the more sacred thoughts to what engages the minds of our busy, hurrying world—politics and business—I heard of a rather significant instance of race trouble as far north as the capital. It seems that through the influence of Senator Hiscock trouble as far north as the capital. It seems that through the influence of Senator Hiscock a bright young colored girl was given a place as printer's assistant in the bureau of printing and engraving. The printer and his assistant bave to work all day side by side, perhaps for years. The printers refused to work with this one, and they are determining what final action to take, and doa good deal of mental ugly thinking at Senator Hiscock.

Elmira has a democratic mayor, but from all I hear of him, though a worthy man, his record does not equal that of Atlanta's safe and brilliant ruler, at whose hands our interests are well guarded and take new life, and whose brains and judgment fit him to preside over the destinies of our state. Negro children are admitted into the public schools here. The private schools, academies and the college all flourish.

The Elmira college for young ladies, is one of the finest and the oldest in the north. The faculty engage the most attractive lecturers now and then. Miss Amelia B. Edwards and Kennan lectured for them within the past three months. The college ranks with Vassar, Smith and Wellesly. I learn that the few hundred negroes who live here are very quiet and contented. They live off in a "settlement" by themselves. The wealthy class of people prefer the white "help" (you would not dare ceall them servants), as they consider them more reliable. I have noticed two colored coachmen, and during the bright, real southern weather when the baby carriages, with their precious bundles of humanity, were everywhere. I saw only one colored nurse; as I looked at the new houses going up, there were no "animated bronzee" at work on them as we see everywhere at home.

Then I inquired "What does the negro do here to make a living?" They are employed

Then I inquired "What does the negro do here to make a living?". They are employed as stone and brick masons, and they hire other negroes to help them, as mortar carriers, etc. Whitewashing is another occupation left to them, and many of them are barbers, and a few are engaged in the hotels. I noticed a well-deceded negro man driving in a carriage, and learned that he was making money as a druggist, having been educated in pharmacy for it. It is very unusual to see them in the homes of the white people. One lady told me that she did not consider them honest or neat. I told her that I had lived on an old southern plantation, where we had the best cooking in the world, and that having been raised up with the negroes, I missed them here. She admitted that she wanted some of the fried and broiled chicken, egg bread, waffles and beaten biscuit which our colored cooks make at home in their sweet, clean kitchens I attended a fair, given by the first ladies of Elmira, at the workrooms of the industrial school, to see how they did and what they had. When I saw the little "Tonsy" of a girl, who truly looked like she had "jes" what they had. When I saw the little "Tonsy" of a girl, who truly looked like she had "jes' growed," as she waited on the grand looking "town. ladies," in bewilderment, I felt as if I had stumbled upon an old acquaintance. So like the little country blackberry pickers at home did she look, all dressed up in a short calico dress and wrinkled stockings and big shoes and her great scared eyes looking wonder at what she saw. She is an orphan which these noble women are training to be useful.

ICE DEALERS DISTRESSED.

Ice dealers are distressed at not being able to get their summer supply of ice on the river at home, and unless the March winds bring colder weather, they will have to send further north for their ice. All hope of ice on the Hudson river has been abandoned and the New York city ice dealers are getting their crop is Maine and northern Massachusetts.

It is said that Mrs. Cleveland is writing for some magazine a series of articles on "Remeniscences of the White House." They will give great pleasure if they are as charming as she is in conversation.

Mr. Talmage speaks of the influenza as a onversation.

Mr. Talmage speaks of the influenza as a plague. Indeed, it has seemed as one, for hundreds have died with it here. Physicians say that it is one of the most tantalizing diseases with which they have ever had to deal. Strong men who have recovered from it say that never with which they have ever had to deal. Strong men who have recovered from it say that never before did they experience any suffering which so unnerved them physically and mentally; brave women who cried with the terrible aching, and tossed with its fever, and had perfect night-mares of horrid dreams, declare that no pain ever made them so hysterical over trifles. neither did the children escape, for on every side you see their pinched, billious faces, and hear their hacking coughs. It seems to be subsiding. Medical headquarters announce that this country is to suffer a scourge of cholera next summer, and that those who have had influenza will not be liable to an attack of the fearful disease. That is at least one comforting assurance to those who have had influenza.

LOULIE M. GORDON.

It is a Fact.

It has been conceded by those who have tried it, by others who have watched its effect, by physicians who know its composition, that Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla is without a single exception the best remedy ever offered to the public as a cure for all diseases arising from a state of blood impurity and disordered functions of the body. Its effect is always sure. It prevents eruptive tendencies. It assists digestion and the proper assimilation of food. It checks decay and ulcerative inclination, whether of the lungs, kidneys or liver. It cures syphilis, scrofula, eczema, salt rheum, itch, dyspepsia, indigestion, inactive liver, weak kidneys, masal and urinary, catarrh, Bright's disease, nervonness, general debility, sleeplessness, melancholy, unnatural fatigue, loss of power, loss of memory, loss of appetite, loss of energy, etc., etc. Give it a trial all who would assist nature in her efforts to maintain health and strength It is a Fact. in her efforts to maintain health and strengt until old age gently brings rest and quiet.

A STRANGE ACCIDENT

BY WHICH A DRUG STORE WAS SET ON FIRE YESTERDAY.

A Cat Turns Over a Demijohn of Sulphurle Ether, the Vapor of Which Ignites From a Gas Jet—Another Fire.

A cat caused a fire yesterday. And it came near doing a good deal of damage in Messrs. Stoney & Gregory's drugstore, ner Marietta and Peachtree streets. A few minutes after 12 o'clock a cat that has the run of the store, tipped over a two gallon demijohn filled with sulphuric ether. A gas jet was burning about fifteen feet distant, and the vapor from the demijohn of ether reached the flame of the gas jet, and a loud explosion followed that was heard for several blocks around. The vapor is exceedingly inflammable, and in a twinkling the house was full of smoke, and the flames leaped up and enveloped the counter and shelving in that portion of the store.

The alarm was turned in, and the inmates of the store went to work at once to extinguish the flames. The vapor was so volatile, however, that it soon burned out, and the flames had subsided considerably by the time the department arrived, although they were out at the tap of the bell.

The further progress of the fire was stayed, and the danger was soon over. The damage was found to be less than a hundred dollars.

It was fortunate that the accident occurred

It was fortunate that the accident occurred in the daytime, as otherwise the damage might have been very heavy.

Cotton Bales on Fire.

Cotton Bales on Fire.

At 3:45 yesterday afternoon an alarm was rung in from box No. 43 on Decatur street, and the department turned out.

The fire was found to be in a pile of cotton bales on the platform at the Richmond and Danville railroad depot.

There were five bales in the pile, all wrapped in cotton bagging. It is supposed that a spark from a passing engine ignited the cotton, which quickly spread over the pile.

A few spurts of water extinguished the flames, and the damage was not great, although the covering was burned from all five of the bales, and the cotton was considerably scorched.

she Made a Mistake .- A laughable incident oe entred yesterday afternoon, at St. Luke's cathedral. After the sernices for the deaf mutes had been esneluded, and while they were awaiting for Dr. Turner's return from the vestry, a lady approached a gentleman standing in the aisle, and toching him on the arm, said: "Did you understand all that Dr. Turner said?"

ATLANTA IN BRIEF.

DENSED FORM. of Interest About Atlanta and Atlanta

People-Street Scenes and Gossip-Leaves from Our Notebooks.

A Chicken Thief Caught .-- Yesierday in the gray awn of the morning Patrolman N. R. Heard saw 1 pero walking off up Pine street with a sack on his ann. His long experience with the average darky aroused his suspicion, and he followed. The negro mended his gait, and finally broke into arm, dropping the sack. The policeman found that the sack was full of chickens, recently pulled

In a Coffee-Pot. - Patrolman Steerman treed a had togre-rot. Fatronian Steerman treed a blindtiger on Line street last night. He entered the house just in time to grab the negro as he emptied the contents of a coffee-pot into the slop backet. He grabbed it before it was empty, and found that it contained corn liquor. Near at hand were a small drinking glass and a funnel, to com-plete the evidence in the case.

rom somebody's poultry house.

"What did you say?" replied he gentleman.
"Oh! I beg your pardon," said the lady, "I thought you were a deaf mute."

A Deserved Compliment .- Mr. Constantin Stern A Descrice Companient.—Mr. Constantin Stern-berg has been officially invited to play the great Schumann Concerto, with accompany Thomas's orchestra, at the next meeting of the National Association of American Musicians, in Detroit. It is anticipated that this meeting will eclipse all the former ones. The pianists are chosen from the very first ranks, such as Joseffy, this Anster Ohe, etc. This invitation is a flat-tering acknowledgement of Mr. Sternberg's high rank as an artist, as well as of his great popularity in the professional world. Atlanta can pride her self on her musical representatives.

A Splendid Showing.—"I have been solicitor of the city court for two years," said Solicitor Frank O'Bryan last night, "and I have had a great many cases from the police courts. I took pains to count up the convictiens and pleas of guilty, and there are thirteen hundred and seventy-two who have been sentenced. A great many of them were pleas of guilty, and the percentage of convictions in cases made is simply enormous. This goes to show the immense amount of good, honest, prac-tical work done by the police department of At-

The Mail Carrier Kicks.—A young farmer named J. S. Bailey was discharged before the United States commissioner in Atlanta on a charge of obstructing the mails, a case made at the instance of a mail carrier in Hall county, where Mr. Bailey lives. It seems that the county authorities had given Mr. Bailey permission to dig a ditch across a public road. The ditch was dug, but before the work was finished and before the gully could be bridged over, a heavy rain storm came up, stop-ping the progress of the work. The mail carrier, whose route was by that road, drove up to the gully and there he stopped. It was impassable. He went a roundabout route to his destination, and reported Mr. Bailey for obstructing the mails. The case was difmissed.

A Pathetic Picture .- Saturday evening, just as the darkness fell, those who were waiting for the coming of the dummies witnessed a pathetic scene on Alabama street.

A smart looking little boy, muffled in an overcoat and warm mittens, with a snugly fitting cap drawn over his ears, was tripping down the street with a big sack of popcorn in his hands. He was so bundled up that he could not get at the corn without spilling a good deal of it.

At his heels came two little waifs with tattered hats and jackets out at their elbows, and their little bare feet red as pigeons' toes with the cold.

They were eagerly picking up the corn that the other boy spilled as he walked down the street, heedless of the wondering gaze of those whom they passed.

An Irish Veteran-A few days ago a veteran went to Dr. Fox's office to make application for membership in the Confederate Veterans' associa-tion. Dr. Fox and Dr. Charles d'Alvigny were questioning him with a view to filling out his application.

"How old are you?" "I can't tell ye, sorr."

"I can't tell ye, sorr."
"Whatyear were you born."
"Ah, an' it's meself that 'u'd to know the same thing."

"And you have no idea of your age?" "Well, faith, an it's this way so furr as I can tell. I was twenty-five years of age when I married. I lived wid me first wife thirty-won years, an' I've been wid me second wife nine years."

"How long were you a widower?"
"Ah, the divel, an' it's but mighty few days,

And that was all they could get out df him. So they come at it from his ealculations.

A Clothier's Coupons.—"I received a curious kind of bill yesterday," said a gentleman who had his hands thrust in the pockets of a brand new

"How was that?"

"Well, I have been trading with a firm of clothiers for some time. The other day I made some purchases and had the bills sent to my office. When they came I was surprised to see coupons attached to them, with an explanatory note that read something like this:

"Dear sir: Our trade has been so much better than we expected at the beginning of the season, that we wish to divide profits with our customers. Find attached to bill a coupon, amounting to a reduction of eight per cent on the bill, which will be accepted same as cash to the amount of its face value, when presented at our store.

Respectfully, BLANK & BLANK."

"Now, that is a new idea. Had the bill contained an extra charge for some alleged exta expense, I an extra charge for some alleged exta expense, I should not have been surprised, but to get a re-bate on a bill is startling, eh?"

An old gentleman writes: "B. B. B. gives me new life and new strength. If there is anything that will make an old man young, it is B. B. B."

Surprise to All.

After using "Mother's Friend" two month I can truthfully say it has no equal. I was so speedily and easily relleved that it was a surprise to all those attending me. "Mother's Friend" undoubtedly lessens the pains, short ens the time and restores tho mother speedily to health. I only used one bottle which cost me $1.50; it has been worth $20 to me. I cannot write enough on the subject; suffice it to sey that I will recommend it to all expectant mothers and advise them to use it. Mrs. J. A R., Muncie, Ind., September 27, 1889.

To Young Wives. A disappointed bachelor has said that some time after marriage a man's wife ceases to be supremely attractive to him. Never was a greater libel. Beauty preserved and grace retained can never lose their charm or yield their empire. The preservation of our bodies in their original healthy perfection and comliness is a sacred duty. Every young mother who will faithfully carry out the directions given with each bottle of "Mother's Friend" never lose figure or complexion. The dainty bud will mature into the blooming rose, and old age will find her blessing the day she first used "Mother's Friend." Sold by all druggists. Write the Bradfield Regulator Com pany, Atlanta, Ga., for further particulars.

Mrs. Mary E. Bryan, the noted southern novelist and poetess, gave the first of a delightful series of at homes last Saturday evening, in her new apartments on West Sixty-first street. The handsomely furnished parlors were decked with vases of cut flowers, and the hostess's pretty daughter, Mrs. C. P. Byrd, of Atlanta, assisted her to receive. About two hundred people, including many prominent in the literary and artistic world, were present. Mrs. Bryan wore a handsome gown of black and yellow brocade with yellow flowers. A number of the members of Sorosis and the Woman's Press club were present, including Mrs. Frank Leslie, Mrs. J. C. Croly, Mrs. Hardy, Mrs. Anna Randall Dießl, Mrs. McIntosh, Miss Frances Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Heaton and Mrs. Florence Finch Kelley, Mrs. Bryan entertains with true southern hospitality and informality and her [at homes are always-delightful occasions. dways-delightful occasions.

A SOUNDLESS SERVICE.

DEAF MUTES.

or Heard the Voice of Men Tells of a Journey to Europe.

There was a peculiar and impressive service celebrated yesterday afternoon at St. Luke's cathedral.

his birth has never heard the voice of a fellowbeing, or given vocal expression to a thought, preached to those afflicted like himself, and told them of the great mercy of the Almighty.

The welcome tidings of Rev. Dr. Job Turner's arrival in Atlanta had been communicated to the deaf mutes in the city, and all those who could do so, gathered at the cathedral to watch his eloquent fingers tell of his recent journey to Europe.

There was no music, nor were any of the usual forms of service observed. Dr. Barrett, however, for the benefit of those of the congre gation who were able to understand his words explained that Dr. Turder had been a deaf mute since his birth. For the greater part of the sixty years during which he has lived, he the sixty years during which he has lived, he has devoted all his energies to the consolation and advancement of his fellow sufferers.

During the past year Dr. Turner visited Europe. He passed through all the great capitals of the old world, and he understandingly studied all the historic pictures and places of interest. The great learning he has acquired, in spite of his infirmity, attracted the attention of the leaders of European politics, and he had interviews with Mr. Gladstone and many others of world-wide celebrity.

Since his return from Europe Dr. Turner has accepted a mission among the deaf mntes of the south, and he is now going from city to city, everywhere welcomed with gladness, and carrying comfort and consolation wherever he appears.

After telling the congregation who Dr.

Turner was and explaining that the sermon or lecture would relate to his recont trip through Europe, Dr. Barrett conducted his guest to the pulpit and took a place by his side.

The two men formed a striking picture, the one gray-haired patriachael and bearing on his feature an expression of happy resignation.

The other in the prime of life, strong and powerful and full of earnestness in the cause to which he has developed his title. which he has devoted his life.

which he has devoted his life.

As Dr. Barrett commenced reading the words of the lecture from a manuscript, Dr. Turner commenced in his own way to deliver the same words.

Quick as a flash, his hands flew from one restion to another.

position to another. Every motion was full of grace, and it also carried its meaning to the mutes who sat with their eyes fixed on the swiftly moving fingers, drinking in the soundless words. Dr. Turner's lecture was short, and though he spoke of the different places he had visited, he dwelt more especially or religious subjects, and continually impressed the great mercy and loving kindness of the Almighty on his watchers. watchers.

When the services were over, Dr. Turner and Mr. Barrett rebred to the vestry, and when they returned without their robes all the mutes were collected, and were invited to speak with Dr. Turner. He shook hands with them all, and a lively but soundless conversation ensued.

When the mutes finally dispersed they were evidently delighted with all that Dr. Turner had imparted to them.

ORDAINED DEACON.

Bishop Beckwith Authorizes Mr. Perry to Teach the Word of God.

At the morning service yesterday at St-Luke's cathedral, Bishop Beckwith ordained to the diaconate Mr. John T. P. Perry, reto the diaconate Mr. John T. P. Perry, recently of Sewanee university. The ordination sermon was preached by the very Rev. Dean Barrett and was in his most earnest and eloquent style. The theme was from the first verses of I Corinthians IV and the preacher riveted the attention of the large congregation by his masterly exposition of the pastor's duties to his people and of the esteem and sympathy due to him as God's messenger.
The right reverned prelate then recited the office in a very impressive manner and arising from his knees a clergyman of the church Mr.
Perry read the gospel. Then followed a special celebration of the holy communion. The singing of the vested choir was such as Perry read the gospel. Then followed a special celebration of the holy communion. The singing of the vested choir was such as gain hearty encomiums from musical people and reflects great credit on Choirmaster Toy. and reflects great credit on Choirmaster Toy.
At even song the sermon was preached by the Rev. John J. P. Perry, ordained that morning, from St. John vi:53, on the subject of the eucharist. It was a clear and succinct exposition of the teaching of the church regarding this sacramant, and was delivered with a deliberateness which augurs well for the young minister's future as a preacher.

AN INCLINED ROAD.

Mountain. Venable Bos. will soon complete their inclined road on Stone Mountain.

It runs from the quarries near the top of the mountain, to the belt road which encirles its base. It is about three quarters of a mile long, and is what is called the "gravity inclined" plan, by which the loaded cars pull the empty ones up.

At the top are located the drums, around which the steel wire cables are wound that operate the cars.

The mountain is 975 feet high, and the grade is about forty feet to the one hundred, which is rather high.

Mr. Charles Venable has had charge of the construction of the road, in which he has been ably supported by Mr. R. W. Wilkes. The road runs on the east side of the mountain, and the cars will dump their leads into the freight cars on the belt road below, thus saving a great deal of labor in the handling at the granite. SLIPPED ON THE SIDEWALK.

Mr. R. C. Glass the Victim of a very Painful Accident Yesterday.

Yesterday Mr. R. C. Glass, who is employed by Mr. D. H. Dougherty, left Mr. Dougherty's residence on Peachtree street. He made a misstep and slipped on the pavement and fell, breaking his leg. He was carried back into the home where his injuries were attended to. The wound is not a serious one, but is very painful and will lay him up for some time. Mr. Glass has many friends who will regret to hear of his mishap. Beecham's Pills act like magic on a weak

His Friends Are at a Loss to Account for His Abrupt Disappearance.

Mr. Richard H. Tonge, bookkeeper of the American Press association, has left the city. About a week ago he failed to turn up at his usual hour, but as he had occasionally missed a day or two from business, little was thought of the matter.

a day or two from business, little was thought of the matter.

But his continued absence caused his employers to make some inquiries as to his where abouts, and without success. They are a little puzzled at his disappearance. His books are all right and there is nothing wrong whatever in his business affairs. They believe that he is a little off in some way, and that he is liable to turn up at any day. He came here from Baltimore, and accepted the position with the association when the branch was first established in Atlanta.

Since that time be has served his employers well, and his genial and kindly disposition made him many friends. He has no relatives here, but a wife and one or two children reside in Baltimore. He is a fine bookkeeper, and a man of education and genteel qualities. He was a brave soldier in the army of the confederacy, and often referred with pride to his native state, Maryland.

Payments on the new series of the Hibernia Building and Loan association will begin on March 10. By putting aside ten dollars a month you will accumulate twelve hundred dollars before you know it. Take some shares from Peter F. Clarke, ecretary, at Capital City bank.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for thirty years and have always found it the best remedy for croup, to which complaint my children have been subject."—Capt. U. Carley, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Brooklyn, N. Y.

"From an experience of over thirty years in the sale of proprietary medicines, I feel justified in recommending Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. One of the best recommendations of the Pectoral is the enduring quality of its popularity, it being more salable now than it was twenty-five years ago, when its great success was considered marvelous."—R. S. Drake, M. D., Beliot, Kans.

"My little sixter four years of age.

"My little sister, four years of age, was so ill from bronchitis that we had was so ill from bronchitis that we had almost given up hope of her recovery. Our family physician, a skilful man and of large experience, pronounced it useless to give her any more medicine; saying that he had done all it was possible to do, and we must prepare for the worst. As a last resort, we determined to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and I can truly say, with the most happy results. After taking a few doses she seemed to breathe easier, and, within a week, was out of danger. We continued giving the Pectoral until satisfied she was entirely well. This has given me unbounded faith in the preparation, and I recommend it confidently to my customers."—C. O. Lepper, Druggist, Fort Wayne, Ind.

AUCTIONEER.

For Sale to the Highest Bidder On the 18th of March, 1890, AT 11 O'CLOCK A. M.,

The Former Capitol of Georgia This grand building, four stories high, upon an elegant basement, fronts Marietta street 150 feet, running south along Forsyth street 100 feet to 15-foot alley. What a magnificent hotel this would make, with five elegant stores on Marietta street to rent, at $1,500 each. This property is on one of the most public and valuable corners in the city of Atlanta, and could be converted into a first-class hotel, fronting on Forsyth street, at very small expense; the immense basement would be just right for storerooms, barroom and billiards, and would rent for big money. This great corner is the most desirable spot in Atlanta for a city ball. With its comfortable offices now ready for occupancy, and those spacious halls sufficient to accommodate thousands of our citizens. We have no place now half large enough.

This building was originally planned and designed for an opera house, with sufficient capacity to seat thousands. There is no site superior to this, and a little money would accomplish the necessary change. The 150 feet front on Marietta street, without the building, the ground alone is well worth $800 per front foot.

I will sell all the iron safes, vaults and appurtenances at the same time and place. No bid for less than $125,000 will he received. Sale one-half cash, balance one and two years, eight per cent interest. Here is a fine opportunity for a syndicate to invest and make big money.
